

Moroccan and Algeria Troops Still Battling

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian and Moroccan troops still battled in the Sahara today as negotiators kept up efforts to reach a truce.

Moroccan military headquarters at Marrakech said Wednesday night the fighting was spreading north and south of Hassi-Beida and Tinsoub, two contested desert outposts about 900 miles southwest of Algiers.

The outposts apparently had changed hands several times since Tuesday when the fighting in the ill-defined border region broke out.

An Algerian government spokesman said the Moroccan forces launched heavy attacks Wednesday, supported by tanks, artillery and jet planes.

The Moroccan army said an Algerian plane strafed and bombed Moroccan positions in the desert and attacked a caravan west of Colomb-Bechar, the Algerian supply base about 250 miles northeast of the combat area.

There were no official casualty reports.

Algerian and Moroccan negotiators gave no indication of progress after a six-hour session in Marrakech that ended shortly before midnight.

Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco appealed to Morocco's King Hassan II and Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella to settle their conflict peacefully. Spain's chief of state said his appeal was prompted by "the fraternal sentiments of friendship of the Spanish people."

Coalition Attacked by Croxton

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Hardy Croxton of Benton County, self-declared "potential" candidate for governor in 1964, attacked Wednesday what he called "an unhealthy legislative and executive coalition" in Arkansas government.

Croxton says he may seek the Democratic nomination for governor next summer. He began a series of speeches just after adjournment of the 1963 legislature and has spoken in a number of cities.

He said in an interview Wednesday that whether he runs will depend on how well events in which he is interested develop in the coming months.

"We are supposed to have a constitutional government of checks and balances," Croxton told a Little Rock civic club. "This is to protect and preserve freedom. Instead, we have an unhealthy legislative and executive coalition."

Croxton called Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem a "one-man legislature" and said the executive branch of the government is working with "the powerful few in the legislature" to control the government.

Some Areas of Arkansas Get Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain freshened some Arkansas communities Wednesday and more precipitation was expected today, but the drought remained.

Clinton got the heaviest rain Wednesday, 1.35 inches. And Shirley got .96 inches of an inch.

Other rainfall readings around the state included Mountain Home .02, Berryville .31, Blue Mt. Dam .76, Norfolk Dam .40, Nimrod Dam .30, Calico Rock .18, Berryville .31, Booneville .07 and Gravelly .05.

The Weather Bureau said chances for showers in the state today are limited to the northern half, with additional amounts of little consequence as the shower pattern tapers off.

By Friday, northern sections will share the outlook for generally fair weather indicated for southern Arkansas through Saturday, the Weather Bureau said.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy today through Friday with a few thundershowers in the north today. Continued warm days and cool nights with a high today of 82 to 88 and low tonight of 50 to 60.

Maximums Wednesday were generally mid to upper 80s. Overnight lows were in the 50s.

Some Facts About Life in That Wacky and Wonderful World of the Kindergarten

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
CLEVELAND (AP) — What's life like in that wonderful—and sometimes wacky—world of kindergarten?

We can't be sure, because the only information we receive is from our 5-year-old. And she often takes a flyer into the world of fantasy.

My wife is anxious to find out what goes on in the little schoolroom with the big doll house. By the bruises on little Arlene's legs, Mommy has discovered the youngsters sometimes toss around blocks. Paint on her hands and clay in her hair are more evidence of kindergarten tools.

To Mommy's questions of "How was school today, darling?" comes such non-sense answers as: "Okay," "Fine," or "The same as yesterday."

But Daddy hears all the tales—or at least they sound like tales.

It was sitting on the sofa one evening reading the newspaper when Arlene flopped down alongside me. Suddenly she blurted out:

"Daddy, Tommy kissed me in school today."

"Huh. Who kissed you?"

"Oh, the teacher didn't see

Sixth Victim of Car Crash

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Carl E. Jones, 38, principal of a Wabbeska, Ark., Negro school, died in a Vicksburg hospital Tuesday—the sixth victim of a two-car collision near Tullulah, La., early Sunday.

Five other Negroes were killed in the crash on U.S. Highway 65. A carload of football fans was returning to Pine Bluff, Ark., after Arkansas A&M played Southern University at Baton Rouge, La. The car collided with another car occupied by Negroes from Louisiana.

A native of Washington, Ark., Miss Carrigan has been a member of the LSU faculty since September of 1962. She received a B. A. degree from Henderson State Teachers College in Arkansas, Ark., in 1953. She earned an M. A. degree from LSU in 1956 and a Ph. D. from LSU in 1961.

While doing graduate work, Miss Carrigan was a graduate assistant in the department of history and later served as a part-time instructor. She also taught in the department of social sciences at Henderson State Teachers College and was an instructor at Nicholls State College in Thibodaux.

Miss Carrigan studied at the University of Pittsburgh during 1961 under an Andrew Mellon Postdoctoral Research Fellowship. Her special fields of interest are Louisiana and Southern history, and medical and public health history.

Miss Carrigan has had several articles published. They include "Yankees versus Yellow Jack in Occupied New Orleans, 1862-1866," published in the "Civil War History" journal (Fall, 1963) and "Impact of Yellow Fever on Life in Louisiana," which will appear in the winter, 1963 edition of "Louisiana History." She has also published in the "Journal of Southern History," "The Historian," "Louisiana Folklore Miscellany," "McNeese Review," and "Arkansas Historical Quarterly."

Miss Carrigan pointed out that the Journal views Louisiana history in the broadest sense, including "all the geographical territory originally termed Louisiana in the colonial period and including subject matter relating to economics, sociology, political science, anthropology, geography, intellectual-cultural-literary history and historiography."

In addition to its quarterly issues, the Louisiana Historical Association also publishes one full-length manuscript on Louisiana history each year. Joe Gray Taylor's "Negro Slavery in Louisiana" was its most recent book.

Miss Carrigan replaces the outgoing editor, A. Otis Hebert Jr., who resigned to teach at Nicholls. She is assisted by Elizabeth Lane, secretary and editorial assistant.

Union workers voted unanimously at a meeting Wednesday night to return to work today. The strike was suspended for 30 days.

Faubus appealed to the strikers Tuesday to return to work, then suggested the investigation by the board committee into complaints of low wages and poor working conditions.

Strikers picketed the university campus for a week, then university officials obtained a temporary injunction against picketing from the Washington Chancery Court. The union said it would appeal the injunction to the Arkansas Supreme Court but it has not done so.

Dr. David Mullins, president of the university, said in a statement earlier this week that the university would not negotiate with the union but would talk to employees individually about their complaints. "This position apparently was changed Wednesday. Union officials said university officials had agreed to negotiate."

The three men on the university board's investigating committee are R. A. Young Jr. of Fort Smith, Leon P. Catlett of Little Rock and Fred Pickens of Newport.

Trade Market Calls Truce in Chicken War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the European Common Market asked the General Agreement of Tariffs and Trade (GATT) Wednesday to assess the damage the U.S. has suffered because of increased import duties in Europe on American poultry.

This marked an uneasy truce in the 16-month-old chicken war. Christian A. Herter, President Kennedy's special representative for trade negotiations, said GATT's verdict will be advisory, binding neither the U.S. or the ECM.

The U.S. contends its loss in poultry exports runs to $46 million a year. The Common Market countries challenge this figure, saying the loss is not more than $19 million.

Herter indicated the U.S. is ready to accept any reasonable compromise figure.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the European Common Market have called a truce in their chicken war which has been shooting holes in hopes for an Atlantic trade partnership.

After 16 months of haggling, the dispute over the market's tariff on poultry was turned over Wednesday to a neutral international panel.

The panel, to be selected by officials of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, will issue an advisory ruling, expected in about three weeks.

Former State Prison Chief Is Suicide

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Lee Henslee, head of the Arkansas prison system for 14 years, died Wednesday from a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was 59.

Henslee had retired July 1 because of ill health. Jefferson County Coroner Dr. Frank Reed said Henslee shot himself in the body with a 20 gauge shotgun.

Henslee had retired July 1 because of ill health. Jefferson County Coroner Dr. Frank Reed said Henslee shot himself in the body with a 20 gauge shotgun.

Henslee instituted the farm system which made Arkansas the only state with self-supporting prisons. They include sprawling farms at Tucker and Gray in Southeast Arkansas.

The farms are producing a record cotton crop this year. They also produce rice, peas, oats, wheat, lespedeza, onions, peanuts, okra, strawberries and cucumbers.

Henslee also made the trusty system work. There are no paid guards in the prisons. Arkansas' escape rate is low, despite the fact that the prisons have no walls.

Dan Stephens became head of the prison system three months ago upon the retirement of Henslee, who had been associated with prison work for 26 years.

Col. Herman Lindsey, director of the State Police, said of Henslee: "I have lost one of the very best personal friends I ever had. He meant so much to law enforcement throughout the state for many years."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Henslee "served his state long and well."

"I am one of those who believe he was one of the greatest penologists in America," Faubus said. "His success under a number of state administrations is proof that he was recognized for his great ability in this field."

2 Contracts Met With Objection

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — One member of the state Printing Board approved 69 state printing contracts Wednesday, but a Little Rock firm objected to the award of two contracts.

State Treasurer Nancy Hall signed the contracts, which are worth $1 million annual for the next two years. Gov. Orval E. Faubus and state Auditor Jimmie Jones, board members, also will review the contracts.

Arkansas Printing and Lithographing Co. objected to the award of two contracts, one for printed letterheads and envelopes and one for printing University of Arkansas bulletins. Parkin Printing and Stationery Co. of Little Rock got the first contract and Carnahan Publishing Co. of Eudora was low on the second.

H. Maurice Mitchell, attorney for AP and L, said the firm believed it was the lowest responsible bidder on these two contracts. He sent a letter to that effect to each board member, but no replies were made.

Parkin and AP and L tied for low bid on one contract, valued at between $250,000 and $400,000, and it was among the contracts Mrs. Hall approved Wednesday.

UA Workers Return to Jobs Today

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Some 175 University of Arkansas employees went back to work today, suspending a two-week strike for better pay and more job security after they were promised negotiations between the university and their union.

The negotiations are to begin Monday in Fayetteville, said John Hale of Little Rock, international representative of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union (AF-CIO).

Bob Parker, president of the Northwest Arkansas Labor Council, credited Gov. Orval E. Faubus with settling the strike. "The action of the governor in suggesting that the trustees and the strikers negotiate was an invaluable aid in breaking the stalemate," Parker said.

The board of trustees, at Faubus suggestion, named a three-man board to investigate the circumstances that led to the strike Oct. 4.

Union workers voted unanimously at a meeting Wednesday night to return to work today. The strike was suspended for 30 days.

Faubus appealed to the strikers Tuesday to return to work, then suggested the investigation by the board committee into complaints of low wages and poor working conditions.

Truman declined to check the teeth of the nine mules in competition, but did pin the ribbons on the winners.

Hope Wood Plants to Be Visited

There are nine Woodworking Plants in Hope that buy and process wood in some form or other. Some have been doing business here since 1890.

Another new one is slated to be built next year. In the last 75 years the value of timber to Hempstead County is inestimable. It now runs several million annually and accounts for approximately 50% of all local manufacturing jobs.

The Chamber of Commerce urges all citizens to keep this in mind during forest products week. Chairman Bill Gunter of the forest products week committee urges businessmen and others who will go on the brief tour Tuesday, October 22, to leave 3rd and Main at 1:30 p.m. and make brief stops at Bruner Ivory, Southwest Wood, Split Hickory, and Harold Hendrix Pulpwood Yard.

There is a possibility that Hope Lumber Manufacturing Co. or Horace Anthony may be visited. The tour will then go to the Experiment Station where Mr. Bittle will show a tree farm plot and then the tour will be concluded with a presentation by Miss Cindy Williams, the Arkansas Forest Queen. Miss Williams and Ranger Jim Martin will be on the tour.

To show your appreciation for what timber means to Hope and Hempstead County spend just 3 hours on this tour. It will be interesting and informative.

Special Locks Did the Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A woman who has a special lock system in the house where she has lived for 60 years waited four days before calling for help after finding herself locked in her upstairs bedroom, police report.

Louise Welti, 93, was rescued by firemen Wednesday. She had no water and only a little fruit, she said.

She waited until 3 p.m. Wednesday before calling through an open window to a passerby that her door was locked and she had no key.

Arkansas Egg Council Group Meets Here

Mrs. Freeda Greenan entertained 33 members of the Arkansas Egg Council at their monthly meeting held Tuesday, October 15 in her home. Following a fried chicken dinner, Ken Heideman, a representative of the Poultry and Egg National Board, showed slides of the national promotion program.

Arkansas participation in the National Egg Cooking Contest next year was discussed, as well as plans being made for Egg Month in March. In the afternoon the group toured Mountaire, Corn Belt, and Delight Egg Farm facilities, and all were impressed with the new egg depot.

Among the 26 out-of-town participants in the meeting were Lowell Langford, State Extension Poultry Specialist, Reuben Johnson, of the State Extension Service, and F. W. Wright, Commodities Director of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation.

Board members of the Arkansas Egg Council who attended were Harry Lindsey of Camden, assistant to the president, Arthur Royston of Little Rock, secretary-treasurer, Myron Rogers of Piggott, Ross Maddox of Hot Springs, George Riley of Searcy, and Ted Darrah of Little Rock.

The next meeting of the council will be in November at the Arbor Acre Poultry Farms in Springdale.

Robbery Trial Is Postponed

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The robbery trial of Freddie Floyd Wilkinson, 24, and Mrs. Ruby J. Studer, 22, both of Little Rock, Ark., was postponed Tuesday.

Asst. County Atty. Richard Hollingsworth said one of the robbery victims—a key witness—was in a hospital for major surgery.

Wilkinson and Mrs. Studer are charged in a series of robberies last month at Wichita. The case was continued until Nov. 12.

Wilkinson and Mrs. Studer were arrested along with Oscar Floyd Wharton, 36, also of Little Rock, Aug. 12.

A Heavy Crime on His Mind

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police are looking for a person with a heavy crime on his mind—someone stole 750 pounds of dimes, nickels and pennies from a parking meter collection truck.

No one knows exactly how much 750 pounds of coins comes to. As a parking meter collections employee at city hall pointed out, "we calculate only in pounds. Money has no monetary value to us."

U.S. Rolls Out Red Carpet for Communist Tito

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia was given a red-carpet welcome to the White House today—six years after a similar event was planned, then canceled because of mass protests.

President Kennedy, greeting the Yugoslav leader, said it was most important that countries separated by an ocean, and with differences in political philosophy, try to know the policies of the nations of the world to lessen the danger of war.

"I take great pleasure in welcoming you to the United States," said Kennedy, who added he was certain Tito would be "warmly and hospitably treated" during a 10-day tour of the nation.

Tito read—in halting English—a response in which he said he looked forward to "frank exchanges of views" on world problems of concern to both governments.

Kennedy arranged to spend about 2½ hours in private talks with Tito during the day. These sessions were in addition to a luncheon arranged by Kennedy in Tito's honor.

Tito was last in the United States in 1960, to attend the General Assembly of the United Nations. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met him there, but did not invite him to Washington.

In 1957, Eisenhower planned to entertain Tito at the White House, but abandoned the idea after being barraged with protests from members of Congress and various civic groups.

While Tito was being greeted at a 15-minute military ceremony on the south lawn of the White House, scores of pickets paraded—out of his sight—on Pennsylvania Avenue with banners labeling the Yugoslav president a murderer and dictator.

The pickets described themselves as Americans of Serbian and Croatian descent. Once the arrival ceremony

Deliberate Fire Set in Dierks Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A fire deliberately set in the Dierks area of Southwest Arkansas ruined an otherwise good forest fire record in the state Wednesday.

The fire destroyed 533 acres before four plows and a 20-man Forestry Commission crew could put it out. Total fire loss Wednesday was only 614 acres in 20 fires.

State Forester Fred Lang said the big fire was set in at least 10 places and was a "pretty rough show" before it was over.

The commission continues to get help from other state agencies ordered Monday by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to help in the critical forest fire situation.

Twelve Game and Fish Commission men and five National Guardsmen with a bulldozer put out a fire Wednesday near Jonesboro and Highway Department crews were moving in today on fires near Forest City and Wynne.

Lang said scattered showers Wednesday refueled the fire danger in some areas, but that the dampness would not last 24 hours unless there is more rain.

East Arkansas is now the area of greatest concern, Lang said, because the forestry Commission does not have regular personnel assigned in the area, which is mainly crop land.

Japan to England Record Set

GREENHAM COMMON, England (AP)—A U.S. Air Force B58 jet bomber sped from Japan to England nonstop today in 8 hours and 35 minutes. It covered the 8,028 miles at an average speed of 938 miles an hour.

This was a record paring 9 hours and 7 minutes from the best previous time for a flight between Japan and England.

The bomber, carrying a crew of three, set down at an airfield at this Berkshire village.

The plane had to slow down five times to be refueled by aerial tankers.

Commander of the plane was Maj. Sidney J. Kubesch, 33, of El Campo, Tex.

Maj. John O. Barrett, 32, of Yucca Valley, Calif., was the navigator and Capt. Gerard R. Williamson, 26, of New Orleans manned the defensive systems.

The Strategic Air Command said it was the longest super-sonic flight in history. The previous record was about 4,900 miles set by a B58 flying from Los Angeles to New York and back in March 1962.

The flight actually started from Okinawa, but for record purposes it was timed from the moment the bomber passed over Tokyo to its appearance over London en route to Greenham Common.

The B58 Hustler came from

VENTURE CAPITAL NEEDED TO BUILD SOUTH'S PLANTS

Slowly but surely the South is overcoming the greatest of all economic handicaps — the lack of venture capital. Prior to the War Between the States there was no lack of venture capital. Money was available from national and international sources to develop the plantations for both cotton and sugar cane. After the war the capitalists did not like the idea of spending money in an area impoverished by war. Strangely, for decade upon decade the problem has persisted.

For one example: one of the South's greatest assets is its ability to grow pine trees rapidly. These pines can be converted into paper and pulp. The newspapermen of the South got the idea years ago they could make newsprint from pine trees. However, they could not get the money barons interested.

So, against the advice of capitalists, the Southern newspapermen hired a chemist and proceeded to show the world how to make newsprint from Southern pine trees despite the turpentine. They could not get financial backing even after they proved the paper could be made. But the newspapermen were not discouraged. They made up their own funds and went into the newsprint business. Their venture was an economic success. Now there are newsprint mills all over the South providing tree farmers with money from their cash crop.

Not too many other industries are filled with men of such courage and conviction. It's pretty hard to get our people, who have been reared in an agricultural economy, to provide much venture capital for industrial enterprises. What we have to do therefore is to persuade outside capital to provide the money for ideas which our leaders have perfected.

The South, particularly Mississippi, is becoming industrialized rapidly. The rapidity with which industrial growth continues will depend to a great extent upon our willingness to continue to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay and to educate our children for industrial and scientific pursuits. There's still plenty of land available for industrial sites and there's still plenty of honest manpower around to get the job done.—By Jay West in Laurel, (Miss.) Leader-Call

The two leaders talked animatedly, and with gestures, as they strolled to the office.

The invitation to Tito does not sit well in some quarters.

In a speech Wednesday night to the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a leading possibility for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, declared:

"To the disgrace of every living American, we are welcoming this tyrant to the American capital. We are dining with our enemy and slapping our friends in the face."

Tito, 71, was in the United States once before, in 1960, when he attended the U.N. General Assembly. He met briefly then in New York with President Dwight D. Eisenhower. This will be Tito's first visit to Washington to confer with a U.S. president.

The visit was described by officials as "informal, but officials as "informal, but of-ka, 39, a former major in the Yugoslav army, arrive at the White House from Williamsburg, Va., by helicopter, and return to Williamsburg in the same way in the afternoon.

In making the visit here short and in choosing the places Tito will see after he leaves Washington, the administration had to weigh carefully domestic political implications, informants said. Except for Khrushchev, who was here in 1959, Tito is the only Communist head of state to have been invited to Washington.

Friday and Saturday Tito will make a leisurely tour of the Yosemite National Park in California, then visit San Francisco on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's invitation. Tito is due in New York Tuesday to address the U.N. General Assembly.

Personal Incomes Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income jumped by almost $1.5 billion in September to a record annual rate of $466.5 billion, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics said the September figure was $21 billion, or 4.5 per cent, higher than for the same month last year.

Nearly all of the August-to-September increase was in wages and salaries. Part of it reflected increased payrolls under the new federal minimum wage law effective Sept. 3.

The bureau said that since February, when there was a slight dip, personal income has advanced by an average of $2 billion a month. The increase during the third quarter averaged $1.25 billion a month.

The third-quarter increase was just half the $2.5 billion average monthly gain reported during the second quarter.

Factory payrolls hit an annual rate of $99 billion in September, about one-third of a billion higher than in August

Fired Officer Quits Appeal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Patrolman W. R. Darden, fired Sept. 24 from the Little Rock police force, withdrew his appeal to the Civil Service Commission Tuesday, saying he lacked adequate finances to employ legal counsel.

He was one of three men dismissed by acting Chief R. E. Brians after Theodore Shaw, 21, a Little Rock Negro, complained that policemen had beaten him the morning of Sept. 15.

The others Lt. B. A. Griffith and Patrolman E. L. Vink, both appealed. Griffith's dismissal was upheld by the commission, but Vink's was reduced to a 30-day suspension without pay.

Although the decision won't be binding, Christian A. Hertler, President Kennedy's special trade representative, indicated at a news conference that the United States would accept a reasonable compromise.

The chicken battle began when the six-nation Common Market raised its tariffs last year from 5 cents to 13.4 cents a pound on poultry, throttling a thriving American frozen chicken business in West Germany.

Under the agreement reached in Brussels, the panel will decide how much the poultry tariff has damaged U.S. trade. The United States claims $46 million damage; the Common Market contends it is only $19 million.

After the panel hands down its decision, the United States could raise its tariffs an equal amount on imports from the Common Market.

There was a possibility, however, of a reduction in the poultry tariff itself—which is what the United States has been seeking.

Bryant also received today 2,500 copies of a new edition of the state constitution, including an amendment adopted in 1962.

People Not Accustomed to Freeway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas State Police are having trouble getting people in the Little Rock area accustomed to a new expressway.

Pedestrians, police say, use the superhighway as a walkway (in the wrong direction), kids as a shortcut to school, and drivers consider the outside lanes ideal for stopping to pick up passengers on their way to work in the morning.

Sgt. Maurice Gately of the Accident Investigation Division has nightmares over the latter practice. "Can you imagine the scene if someone piles into the back of a car?" he says.

Some other practices cited: Not following direction for merging traffic, cutting across lanes of traffic at the last moment to get to exits, entering against traffic, driving too slow.

Children darting across the road on a shortcut to school is the worst offense, Gately says.

Children have been spotted sitting on flattened cardboard boxes, sliding down the steep slopes bordering part of the freeway.

There have been no deaths on the freeway since the whole route from Benton to Jacksonville was opened last month.

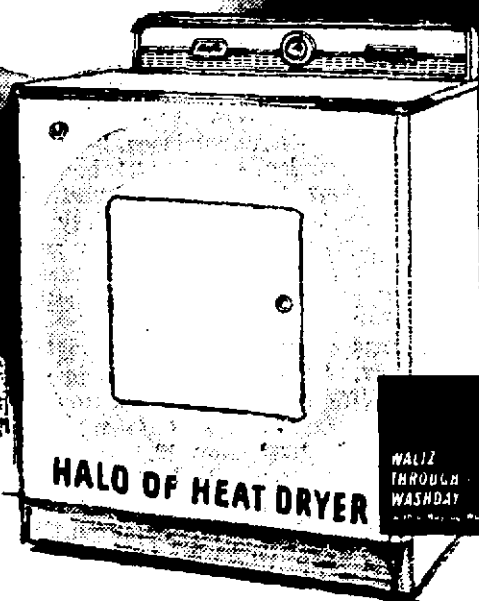

"So far," says Gately, "we've been lucky!"

HOW TELEPHONES USED TO LOOK?

Every old telephone here was once the last word in service. But times and telephones change.

Remember when phones needed fixing so often that each one had a door on the front for the repairman's convenience? Today's telephones give many years of trouble-free service.

Remember when you had to talk loud to be heard? Today you can talk on the phone as if the person were sitting next to you.

Remember when technology limited telephones to one color and one model? Today you can have colors and models to suit your own good taste.

Continued development of better styling and engineering of telephones is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

School Exceeds Expectations

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Education Commissioner Arch Ford said Tuesday the new Pet- it Jean Vocational Technical School at Morrilton has an enrollment of 256 — exceeding all expectations.

Thurston Kirk, superintendent of the school, said four classes had capacity enrollment and waiting lists.

The Pet- it Jean school opened Sept. 16. Night classes started Oct. 1.

"Employers contacting us are asking for more graduates than we have students in diesel mechanics, heavy equipment operation and appliances services," Kirk said.

The Rev. Larry Gaines, pastor of the Friendship and the Mt. Nebo Baptist Churches, performed the double-ring ceremony. Fall flowers decorated the home where the vows were exchanged.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a three-piece double-knit suit of celery and white. Her accessories were burnt sugar patent, and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She pinned an orchid corsage at her shoulder.

Mrs. Max Bruce served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a two-piece blue knit dress with bone accessories and had a blue carnation corsage.

Max Bruce was the best man for the groom.

Mrs. Thompson chose to wear a blue knit dress for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were black patent, and her corsage was of blue carnations. Mrs. Goad, mother of the bridegroom, wore a charcoal beige crepe with matching accessories and had a red rose corsage.

A reception in the home followed the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was served by Mrs. Carl Fuller. Mrs. Cecil Smith poured the punch. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Vonnice Edwards of Arkadelphia, Mrs. Jerry Owen, Mrs. J. C. Bobo and Miss Vicki Bruce. Miss JaVonna Goad made pictures of the occasion.

Those from out of town at the wedding and the reception were Mrs. Catherine Grumley, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Garrett, and Mrs. Paul Edwards, all of Prescott.

After a wedding trip to Galveston, the newlyweds will make their home in Hope. Mr. and Mrs. Goad are graduates of Hope High School. She attended Henderson State Teachers' College in Arkadelphia and is employed by the First National Bank of Hope. He is an employee of the Pan-Am Construction Company in Oklahoma.

HUBBY HAS THE SILLIES
By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My husband and I are married 25 years, have six wonderful children and three beautiful grandchildren. He says if he didn't love me truly he would have said so long ago. Yet you should see the old silly cut up capers when young girls are around!

Last Saturday night we went to a party where there were several girls that we knew. He pranced over to one, ticked her in the ribs, then grabbed her hand and held it. I walked away disgusted. It's getting so I'm ashamed to go anywhere with him. Our daughters hesitate to bring their girl friends home because of the pawing Papa is sure to give them. Don't you think a man of 46 should be mature enough to keep his hand to himself? —Wit's End

Dear Wit's End: Unless paralyzed from the waist up, no man is ever too old to keep his hands to himself. The circumstances may range from trying to hold hands with an attractive nurse to fondling his daughters' girl friends. Such situations denote immaturity.

So, in answer to your question of whether your 46-year-old husband shouldn't be mature enough to stop "pawing" the young girls, I say, "Of course he should be, but obviously he isn't. He's in the midst of the foolish 40's, when many men succumb to the 'sillies'."

There are two ways to cope with this problem. One is to openly poke fun at his capers. Nothing is more devastating than ridicule. Laugh and be nonchalant. Don't walk away when he sidles up to a pretty girl. Stick around and poke him in the ribs. In other words, fight fire with fire, but do so with affection and a smile.

Your other recourse is to make certain that you are satisfying your husband sexually. No matter how long you've been married, no matter how many grandchildren you have, a healthy middle-aged man still needs romance. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: I have been interested for some time in a woman who shares my love for music and church work. In the not too distant future I shall ask her to marry me. Her affection (she often kisses me) would indicate that she returns my devotion. But she has one weakness: flirting with married men! My girl is attractive, dresses well and likes a good time—all of which draws men to her. This pulls me two ways—should I put her out of my life entirely or try to reform her? I am well off materially and believe I could make her happy. Is it worth the effort? —Undecided

Dear Undecided: Marriage is not a reform school. Marry your girl because you love her not because you wish to change her. Frankly, I question that you do love her else you would find even her faults attractive. Better go your separate ways. I doubt that you could make her happy.

Dear Helen: I am one who said she would never turn to you for advice, but—Help! My girl friend wrote you and your advice proved very helpful. I am in love. I used to go with a boy who doesn't even notice me now because I left him for another guy. Too late, I realize it was he I really loved. On our last date he told me he loved me very much and I believed him. I haven't seen him since. Why? —Repentant

Dear Repentant: Be desirable and you'll have all the boys, including your lost love, ramping on your doorstep. Strive for the highest marks in your classes be the best dancer on the floor, look your prettiest. Concentrate on quality. Aim for the stars! You may find that the boy you now pine for falls far short of your ideals!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hall Dedication

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Darby Hall, a $221,000 dining, study and recreation hall for 160 University of Arkansas athletes will be dedicated Oct. 25. It is an addition to Wilson Sharp House, an athletic dormitory, and is named for W. E. Darby of Little Rock. He will speak at dedication ceremonies.

Two Sentry Satellites Launched

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two sentry satellites raced through space today on a secrecy-cloaked mission aimed at perfecting a foolproof means of detecting the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Their assignment: Determine the feasibility of using satellite-borne instruments to detect nuclear explosions as far as 200 million miles from earth. The treaty forbids such blasts in outer space.

Intricate devices in the twin satellites were designed to draw a chart of space radiation so they and later sentinels can immediately spot any sudden surge of energy from a far-out explosion.

Because of a complex flight pattern intended to place the two satellites into widely separated, 57,000-mile-high orbits, officials will not know until Saturday whether the early phase of the mission is completely successful.

No official announcement is expected on the operation, known by the code name V known by the code name Vela Hotel. No reason was given for the news blackout, but unofficially it was reported the Uni-ed States did not want to be embarrassed by indicating to the Soviets that it did not trust them to adhere to the test ban treaty.

Despite the secrecy, newsmen were alerted by sources and watched from nearby beaches when the Atlas-Agena booster rocket blasted off at 9:32 Wednesday night with the two satellites aboard.

Reliable sources reported the satellites had separated and settled into great egg-shaped orbits ranging from 230 to 57,000 miles above the earth. As the space messengers streaked upward, they were about 20 miles apart.

Under the flight plan, at 2:22 p.m. Eastern Standard Time today — a rocket engine aboard satellite No. 1 fires to kick it into a circular orbit where both the high and low points of the orbit are 57,000 miles. No. 2 continues in the original elliptical path for an additional 37 hours until it reaches the 57,000-mile altitude for the second time. Here on-board rocket ignites to jockey it into a circular path. By this time, the two vehicles will be separated by about 100,000 miles.

Two widely separated satellites provide a safeguard against a false alarm which could be triggered by a cosmic ray shower or a radiation flare on the sun. Scientists consider it unlikely that such phenomena could strike two well-spaced satellites at the same instant,

Russia on Spot in China Admittance

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U.N. Assembly debate on the annual proposal to admit Communist China has taken an embarrassing turn for the Soviet Union. Peking's foes are concentrating on the dispute between the Communist giants.

Nationalist China's Liu Chieh set the tone Wednesday, saying Peking's warlike stand in the ideological dispute provided ample proof that the U.N. should keep the Chinese Reds out.

The Soviets, who are giving token support to Peking's bid for admission, sat glumly as Liu quoted from various Soviet publications which he said contained Kremlin admissions that the Red Chinese regime "is aggressive and predatory."

For the first time since the but that's something project Vela Hotel aims to learn.

Vela Hotel is a segment of a three-part program designed to police the nuclear test ban treaty, which outlaws all nuclear tests except underground detonations.

The others are Vela Sierra for detecting blasts in the atmosphere and Vela Uniform to monitor underground blasts.

annual Chinese issue came before the U.N., the Soviets and Soviet bloc delegates remained in their seats when the Nationalist delegate spoke. Only Albania, now a Peking satellite, and Mongolia left the hall.

Albania took the Soviet bloc by surprise this year when it proposed that Red China replace Chiang Kai-shek's regime. In the U.N. the Soviets have always sponsored the Chinese bid in the past and despite their differences still insist Peking should be admitted as a matter of principle.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson pinpointed Red China's opposition to Premier Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy—one of the main issues in the Moscow-Peking dispute—as evidence that the U.N. should keep the door closed.

Dentists Want Mother's Out

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Mothers should not remain in the room when their children are undergoing dental treatment, says a specialist.

Except for very small children, the young patient is more relaxed and cooperative if the mother stays in the waiting room, Dr. Walter Schwartz of Roselle Park, N.J., said today in a paper presented at the 104th annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

U.S. Water Safest in the World
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The United States leads the world in safe drinking water production, the American Water Works Association meeting was told Tuesday.

J. E. McKee of Pasadena, Calif., president of the Water Pollution Control Federation, said Americans take safe drinking water for granted—but the U.S. is the only nation where travelers can feel perfectly safe drinking the water in any community.

Though many European nations are making progress, McKee said none have yet reached the standards of the United States.

The four-day meeting of water works officials ends today.

Plante Helps Rangers Post a Victory
NEW YORK (AP) — Gordie Howe will have to wait. Jacques Plante won't.

Plante, acquired in an off-season trade with Montreal, reached his first shutout in a New York uniform Wednesday night as the Rangers won their National Hockey League home opener 3-0 over Howe's Detroit Red Wings.

Howe, needing one goal to tie the alltime record of 544 regular season scores established by Montreal's Maurice Richard, failed to reach his goal because of a cut right ankle that kept him out of the game.

"When I was younger, I never thought I'd be able to break the record," said Howe. "So I guess I can wait a little longer."

In other games, Stan Mikita scored three goals as the Chicago Black Hawks defeated Boston 5-2 and Tim Horton scored the tie-breaker and assisted on the clincher in Toronto's 4-2 victory over Montreal.

Space Objective Peace - Johnson
NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the underlying goal of American space efforts is to "make the world a healthier, happier place in which to live."

"Already," he told the World Medical Association in an address, "the benefits of space research have begun to reach the hospitals and clinics of the world."

"Many new techniques now used in disease treatment owe their origins to space age research," Johnson said.

Celtics in Victory Over the Bullets
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Boston Celtics don't have superstar Bob Cousy any longer, but otherwise things haven't changed much for the perennial champions of the National Basketball Association.

The classy Celtics still have fabulous Bill Russell blocking shots, snaring rebounds and frustrating opponents. They still have a great defense, balanced scoring featuring a fast break, fine reserve strength . . . and Coach Red Auerbach, who remains fiery despite a $500 pre-season fine levied by the new NBA President J. Walter Kennedy.

With Kennedy included in the crowd of 7,264 fans who welcomed the Baltimore Bullets back to the NBA after a nine-year absence, Auerbach yelled, stomped his feet and flailed his arms as Boston easily whipped the Bullets 109-95 Wednesday night.

In other openers, Lee Shaf-

Devise Plan to Spy on Fish Life

By WICK TEMPLE
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Look out fish, here come Duncan, Jenkins and their funny-looking submarine.

Tom Duncan and Bob Jenkins of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife plan to spy on fish in Arkansas reservoirs for the next five years to learn some of their secrets. They'll do this work with a two-man submarine that looks more like a World War II bomb.

It weighs a ton on land but only seven pounds in the water, and if it sinks, a scuba diver can pull it to the surface.

Experiments with the baby sub will begin late this month after special underwater tracking equipment is installed. A surface boat must be able to keep up with the sub for safety's sake.

The sub isn't the only device Duncan and Jenkins and their research team have for peeping into the private lives of fish. They're using an echo sounder, a sensitive instrument that records fish, channels, trees and other objects underwater.

And they're using scuba diving equipment to mingle with fish. One diver reported a most unusual set of circumstances—a school of shad associating with a school of bass. The bass eat the shad and the research team can't figure out why the shad were striking around their natural enemies.

The sub is stored in a Harrison, Ark., warehouse now awaiting the communications equipment. It will be used on Lake Norfork, Bull Shoals and in Beaver Reservoir when the latter is full of water.

Duncan, Jenkins and five other researchers have set up headquarters in Fayetteville and are working on all three reservoirs with other tests. Water chemistry is important to the program. "We need to know the oxygen content of the water before the reservoir fills up and a few years later," Duncan said. "This will tell us whether the fish has enough oxygen to live."

The bulk of sport fishing is done in reservoirs, he said, and the resort business that goes with it means millions of dollars annually to taxpayers. The tests should make money for commercial operators and provide better fishing for the sportsmen.

Duncan said the researchers want to learn about a spawning, breeding, and schooling habits of fish and how water currents affect them. Duncan hopes to come up with an accurate "life history of a fish." The University of Arkansas is conducting some research on the so-far unfilled Beaver Reservoir that will help the federal researchers.

Never Bend Whips Winner of Derby

BOSTON (AP) — Making the fourth try a successful one, Never Bend whipped Kentucky Derby winner Chateaugay in near-record time in the $50,000-added Yankee Handicap at Suffolk Downs Wednesday.

A three-time loser to the Derby Dan Farm colt, who had won seven of 11 races, Never Bend took the lead at the outset of the 1 1/8-mile test and held it all the way.

His victory margin was four lengths and his time was 1:49, only four-fifths of a second off the track record set by Whirlaway 21 years ago.

Chateaugay finished fourth with Dean Carl and Quest Link grabbing second and third.

Dodgers Get $12,794 for Series Play

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The dazzling World Series pitching of Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale, which buried the New York Yankees in four straight, put an additional $4,919.68 into the pockets of each fulltime member of the Dodgers.

In a breakdown of the Series player shares, Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed Wednesday that a full share was worth $12,794 to a winning Dodger while each full share for the losing Yankees amounted to $7,874.32.

They are the highest winning and losing shares in Series history. The Dodgers voted 22 1/2 full shares, the Yankees 35 1/4.

It was the first million dollar player pool, the Dodgers getting $427,369.51 and the Yankees $284,913 from the $1,017,546.43 jackpot.

The Dodgers' winning share surpassed the old winners' high of $11,232.18 paid to each fulltime Dodger in Los Angeles' victory over the Chicago White Sox in 1959. The Yankees' losing share is some $600 more than the previous high of $7,291.49 which the San Francisco Giants received after they lost to the Yankees in 1962.

Thirty per cent of the player's pool was divided among the second, third and fourth place clubs in both leagues.

The two runners-up, St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox, received $76,315.98 each while the third place Giants and Minnesota Twins got $50,877.32 apiece. Philadelphia and Baltimore, the fourth place clubs, garnered $25,438.66 each. Fifth place finishers were not included in the payoffs.

Thinks Bobcats Will Defeat Fairview 14-13

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Two mighty fine dishes are on the Big Ten Conference football menu this week—one of them tonight.

Texarkana's lion-eating Razorbacks (they're just that shocking) journey to Little Rock to tangle with Central's Tigers.

The Hogs pulled a pair of man-sized upsets in their own backyard — grilling Little Rock Hall, and tying Pine Bluff, the defending conference champion.

But whether they can do it to the Tigers in Tigerland remains to be seen. And Central should be fighting to stay alive after last week's 6-0 loss to Fort Smith.

Friday night, Pine Bluff also travels to Little Rock to battle with the Warriors. Though a loss for either team does not preclude the possibility of the 1963 football championship, the fan can be sure that the odds against the loser of this game capturing the conference crown will triple or quadruple.

So, here's picking them: LITTLE ROCK CENTRAL 7, Texarkana 6. The Hogs have proved they have good offense and defense. Central has, too. The gameste makes the difference.

PINE BLUFF 20, Little Rock Hall 14. Good defenses, but better offenses, and the nod goes to the depth-heavy Zebras.

FORT SMITH 14, Blytheville 6. The Grizzlies are still in the race, and want to stay there.

EL DORADO 20, Jonesboro 7. A nice spot for Jonesboro to break out of the losing column, but not likely.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK 13, Hot Springs 0. The Wildcats beat El Dorado in El Dorado, and they shouldn't have trouble with the Trojans in Hot Springs.

Now, the Class AA teams: Fayetteville 13, Van Buren 12. With misgivings.

Rogers 20, Subiaco 7. A matter of records.

Springdale 7, Siloam Springs 6. And no upset.

Forrest City 12, Newport 6. But it might be a race.

Helena 12, DeWitt 10. Class AA over Class A.

Paragould 7, Mountain Home 0. Just like last week.

West Memphis 12, Wynne 7. Too much speed.

Benton 14, Russellville 7. In a key Region 3AAA clash.

Little Rock Catholic 24, Jacksonville 6. These Rockets are Titan II's.

Conway 10, Malvern 7. With a mighty effort.

Mabelvale 7, Fuller 0. But Fuller may surprise.

Morrilton 15, Atkins 12. At

Chancellor Credited by Pitt Team

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the third-ranked Pitt Panthers finish the season unbeaten and untied, give some of the credit to Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, the chancellor.

Late last season it developed that there was differences between Coach Johnny Michelosen and some of his players. It was termed a misunderstanding, but an outgrowth was that Dr. Litchfield said he believed too many plays were called from the bench.

He called for Pitt to play a more exciting type of football and for the players to call more of their own plays on the field. He has denied that this meant he was taking over for Michelosen.

The Panthers were expected to go places a year ago, but wound up with a 5-5 record. So far this season they have beaten UCLA, Washington and California and seem headed for a return to the glory days of Pop Warner and Jock Sutherland.

On paper they shouldn't have much trouble winning their fourth straight against West Virginia at Morgantown, W.Va. Saturday.

But anyone aware of the Pitt-Mountaineer rivalry knows this is one game West Virginia aims to win more than any other. They whipped the Panthers the last two years.

Pitt's stars, Paul Martha and Fred Mazurek, are in fine shape but end Bob Long is hobbled with a knee injury and Wednesday he was replaced by soph Bob Dunlevy.

Numerous injuries were reported by other teams Wednesday.

The second-ranked Wisconsin Badgers learned that Larry Howard, senior end, will be lost for the remainder of the season because of a torn cartilage in his knee that requires an operation.

Matt Snell, fullback for third-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes, was ruled out of Saturday's game against Southern California. Snell was injured last week against Illinois.

Texas to Try to Convince Hogs of Rating

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Texas' Longhorns came to town Saturday sporting their brand new No. 1 national ranking. The question is: can they convince arch-rival Arkansas it's true?

The Razorbacks have been aiming for this game for a whole year, since Texas beat them 7-3 on an 85-yard drive in the last minute and won the 1962 Southwest Conference championship.

This game was billed as another battle for the SWC crown, but Arkansas was upset by Baylor last week 14-10 and now must struggle to stay in the race with unbeaten Texas.

The Longhorns, 28-7 victor over Oklahoma in a major upset last Saturday, will be favored by one to two touchdowns, but many observers are picking the wily Razorbacks to win.

One of these two teams has been in on the SWC title for the past five years. Texas won it last year on that chilling 7-3 decision over the Hogs. That game marked the only defeat suffered by either team in the regular season. Both lost bowl games.

If the Razorbacks are to avenge that beating and possibly knock Texas out of the top spot, they'll have to deal with quarterback Duke Carlisle, the man who started the 85-yard drive, and tailback Tommy Ford, who ran three yards for the Texas touchdown with 36 seconds left in the game.

Ford is leading the Southwest Conference in rushing with 248 yards on 55 carries for a 4.5 average. A close second is sophomore tailback Jim Lindsey of Arkansas with 246 yards on 6 carries for a 4.0 average.

There's also an interesting individual defensive match between Texas tackle Scott Appleton and Arkansas linebacker Ronnie Caveness.

Appleton, this week's Associated Press Lineman of the Week, was in on 18 tackles against Oklahoma and caused a fumble that led to a touchdown. Caveness was in on 20 tackles against Baylor.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said of Appleton: "I didn't realize how great he was. He was hurt all last year."

Texas has rolled up 132 points to 21 for four opponents. Arkansas hasn't gained the form of its past four campaigns and is 2-2, 1-1 in Southwest Conference competition. The Razorback offense, which depends to a great extent on sophomores, hasn't jelled.

Broyles will start sophomore Jon Brittenum at quarterback against Texas. He's a hard-running 180-pounder who shows signs of developing a good passing attack. In reserve Broyles has two good junior lettermen quarterbacks, passing ace Billy Grey and strong runner Fred Marshall. The three quarterbacks have taken turns starting.

A crowd of between 41,000 and 42,000—the largest ever to see a game in Arkansas—is expected. Temporary seats have been installed in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m. CST.

Fighter's Death to Be Probed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland State Athletic Commission begins its investigation today into the death of 26-year-old boxer Ernie Knox, who died of brain injuries after he was knocked out in the ninth round of a heavyweight bout Monday night.

The Baltimore heavyweight an unemployed hod carrier, got $243 as his share of the purse for the 10-round event which was staged before a scant crowd of 869 in the Baltimore Coliseum. His death was the eighth boxing fatality of the year, and brought renewed cries from those seeking to outlaw the sport.

Even before Knox died, some 27 hours after he was knocked out by Wayne Bethea, a 31-year-old New Yorker, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin promised he would "do everything in my power to prevent professional boxing at the Civic Center."

Baltimore's new, multimillion-dollar arena for sporting and civic events.

Conference Teams to Fight It Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Frank Broyles is making sure that his Arkansas Razorbacks will be as close to full strength as possible for Saturday's game at Little Rock against Texas, the nation's No. 1 team and defending champions of the Southwest Conference.

The Razorbacks worked out in sweat clothes Wednesday and did not even don pads because, Broyles said, "We just don't want anybody to get hurt."

At Austin, the Longhorns did lots of running but avoided contact work. On the sidelines were guard Olen Underwood, with a lip cut in the Oklahoma game, defensive halfback Tony King, with a sore shoulder and end George Bauer with poison ivy. Underwood will miss the Arkansas game but Sauer and King are expected to see action.

Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin was singing the woes Wednesday after watching his Horned Frogs work out in preparation for Saturday's game with Texas A&M.

"The kids were draggy, missed assignments and showed little ginger," Martin said after the two-hour drill.

Starting end Tom Magoffin, injured in the Tech game, took part in the workout but Martin said he would probably see only limited duty Saturday.

The Texas Aggies at College Station wound up contact work with a spirited drill in anticipation of the TCU game. Halfback Travis Reagan, recuperating from a shoulder injury, was the only Aggie on the doubtful list for Saturday.

At Lubbock Coach J. T. King expressed pleasure at the way his Red Raiders showed up in Wednesday's workout. He had special praise for the blocking of David Parks, Bill Shaha and Clarence (Butch) Thompson and the ball carrying of backs Roger Gill, Johnny Agan, Hal Hudson and Leo Lowery.

The Baylor Bears, working out at Waco, emphasized their running game in the last long, hard workout before the Tech encounter. Thursday's workout will stress timing drills and review of fundamental situations.

Southern Methodist's star tailback, Billy Gannon, became a doubtful starter for Saturday's Rice game when he was sidelined with a recurring back ailment Wednesday. Coach Hayden Fry expressed satisfaction at Wednesday's spirited workout

Ex-Arkansans to See Game

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 60 prominent former Arkansans were to arrive in Little Rock today for a homecoming celebration to be climaxed with the Arkansas-Texas football game in Little Rock Saturday night.

The Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, host to the "Arkansans at Large" events, outlined a busy schedule for the visitors, including a reception and banquet tonight, a tour Friday of the Little Rock Industrial District and Winrock Farms near Morrilton.

Saturday, the group is to see the University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology and the Arkansas Arts Center.

Hadl Named Pro Player of the Week

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The quarterback who has been named the American Football League's Player of the Week now rates as something of a glorified understudy on the San Diego Chargers to an older and more experienced signal-caller.

They are 23-year-old John Hadl, who was named Player of the Week in The Associated Press check of sports reporters covering AFL games, and 35-year-old Tobin Rote.

The Chargers' coach and general manager, Sid Gillman, referred to them as his father-son combination in commenting on Hadl's sparkling performance Sunday.

Hadl replaced Rote in the second half, with the Chargers trailing 10-3, and led them to a 24-20 victory over the New York Jets.

Gillman declared that Hadl's play-calling was superb and his passing beautiful, but gave Rote much credit for it.

Rote is in his 14th season as a professional and his first with the Chargers.

Hadl joined the Chargers last year after playing college football at Kansas.

by the Mustangs. Meanwhile the Rice Owls at Houston were planning their defense against John Roderick, the trackman turned football player whose long runs helped SMU upset Navy last weekend. Jim Bob Loos, Rice junior halfback and a trackman himself, ran the Roderick plays against his teammates.

Spring Hill, Blevins Meet Friday Night

Last year's Nevada and Hempstead County sub-district champion and runnerup teams will start out where they left off — battling it out in Spring Hill's opening cage game of the season Friday night.

The champion Blevins team is off to a good start with a 56 to 41 victory over Emmet Tuesday night. It was a sweep for Blevins boys with the Junior boys winning 47 to 13. However, Emmet Senior girls posted a 44-25 win.

The Spring Hill gym will be the scene of three games Friday night with Juniors meeting at 6:30. The Seniors girls will follow and the boys will be the third game.

Spring Hill's Senior girls and Boys team will be composed mainly of sophomores and juniors due to graduation losses.

Lack of Rain May Delay Deer Season

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If you're an ardent deer hunter, pray for rain.

Sam Holt, chairman of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, has told Gov. Orval E. Faubus that the state's first deer season will be postponed unless rain diminishes the fire threat.

The matter was discussed at a commission meeting Tuesday, but a final decision was postponed until the next meeting, tentatively set for Oct. 28.

The commission meets twice a month now because its director, Nelson Cox, is recovering from a heart attack.

The scheduled opening of deer season is Nov. 11; the first period is to end Nov. 16. A spokesman for the commission said the agency did not want to close the door on the season since adequate rain may fall between now and the opening of the season.

Rainfall in Arkansas this year is almost 12 inches below normal. Squirrel and rabbit hunting seasons were permitted to open, and are open now, but deer hunting is considered a greater fire threat because deer hunters make camps and remain for days on one hunting stand.

Emergency Fund Will Fight Fires

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus says he is willing to dip into his emergency fund if necessary to provide funds for the state Forestry Service to hire more men to patrol state forests during the current fire danger period.

Faubus made the statement as he announced the massing of personnel from the state Highway, Civil Defense and Game and Fish Commission into one huge fire fighting force.

Faubus created the force after returning from a three-day camping trip in north central Arkansas. He said he knew the fire situation was bad but he didn't realize how bad until his camping trip.

Faubus called the situation the "most severe fire danger threat I have seen."

"There is no moisture in the earth or on the leaves," he said. "If you take a leaf in hand it will crumble like dust."

Faubus said springs streams and wells which had never been dried up before were going dry because of the drought. He said Stew Prosser, Civil Defense director had 10 water trucks ready to haul water to drought stricken communities. Prosser, the governor said, flew to Washington in an attempt to find more water hauling equipment.

Faubus said Highway Department equipment would be used to help fight forest fires if necessary. "The property they protect and save will be far more valuable to the state than a few days of road work," he said.

He also said National Guard officials were trying to obtain permission for use of guardsmen and equipment to aid in forest fires. He said that couldn't be done now without taking guardsmen off the federal payroll.

Faubus also said that unless the drought breaks, the first deer hunting season may be postponed to cut down of the possibility of hunter-caused forest fires. The season is Nov. 11-16.

State Forester Fred Lang said only a few fires were reported in the state Monday. He attributed the low number to more caution by Arkansans and to lack of wind.

The Forestry Service has warned that if the wind picks up, the situation could become explosive.

Ouachita National Forest was hardest hit by fires over the weekend, with two fires destroying 6,500 acres in Arkansas and Oklahoma. Some 200 troops from Fort Chaffee helped battle those fires.

The National Forest Service brought two aerial tanker planes from Knoxville, Tenn. to spray chemicals on any new fires. The planes will be based at Fort Smith.

Weatherwise, little relief is in sight. Record high temperatures were reported Monday for the eighth straight day and the forecast calls for more of the same. Monday's high was 92. The old record was 89 set in 1947.

No rain is in the forecast before the middle of the week. The Weather Bureau said Monday night. They said some showers could develop from a cool front moving toward Arkansas from the northwest.

So far, only 21.18 inches of rain have fallen this year—17.65 inches below the normal.

Crash Landing in Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A transport plane carrying Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, made a wheels-up crash landing today. U.S. officials said Harkins and others aboard the plane were not hurt.

Authorities said the pilot neglected to lower the retracted landing gear.

The incident occurred at a remote airstrip at Di Linh, about 90 miles northeast of here. The four-star general and his aides were flying in a two-engine U.S. Army Caribou transport plane.

Authorities said the plane was badly damaged on impact.

None of the officers required medical treatment, although all were reported shaken up.

Harkins' command includes about 15,000 U.S. servicemen.

Resettle in Shadow of Italian Dam

BELLUNO, Italy (AP)—The Survivors of the Vaiont Dam disaster and the Italian government acted together today to bring life back to the desolate region.

Despite fears of another disaster, the death toll and the appalling destruction, there were signs the flood-stricken area might indeed live again.

With the death toll estimate between 2,300 and 3,000, hundreds of persons still were missing. But army commanders leading recovery operations said it appeared pointless to keep up full-scale digging operations in the hardened mud much longer.

In Rome, Premier Giovanni Leone's Cabinet voted a series of crash measures to start the disaster area toward recovery.

All taxation of communities in the area was suspended until further notice. Local budgets will be supplemented as needed. Special funds were voted to speed new construction.

The government ordered state road, railroad and communications agencies to undertake an emergency program to get services back to normal as soon as possible.

In Longarone, hardest hit community, the seven surviving members of the 15-man Municipal Council voted to start rebuilding if the government would help.

Nine Schools Still Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only nine of Arkansas' 160 high school football teams remained unbeaten and untied after last Friday's action. There were no perfect records in the upper classifications, AAA and AA.

Pine Bluff of the Big Ten, Fayetteville of 1AA and Russellville of 3AA all have been tied once but have not lost.

The perfect record team after six games Harding Academy of 2B. After five games: Piggott of 3A, Fort Smith St. Anne's of 4A, Danville of 4B, Lakeside of 5A-South, Holly Grove of 6B-West, Clarendon of 6B-East, Dierks of 7B-West and Warren of 8A-North.

Say "Cheese," and Everyone Smiles!

October is Cheese Festival month, and an excellent way to enjoy cheese is in a luscious Welsh Rabbit—one of the oldest and most popular of all cheese dishes.

This is an appetizing, satisfying concoction that doesn't take too long to prepare if you're entertaining guests after a Friday night or Saturday afternoon ball game. Next to a good Cheddar, beer or ale is the prime ingredient in the Rabbit; the brew enhances the delectable cheese flavor with subtlety, and gives the mixture its light, smooth consistency.

Serve this delicious Welsh Rabbit over toast, accompanied by a tossed green salad and frosty glasses of well-chilled beer and ale for a high-scoring supper!

Welsh Rabbit

1 tablespoon butter
1 pound aged Cheddar cheese, grated (4 cups)
1/2 cup beer or ale
1 teaspoon salt

2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon paprika

In double boiler over hot (not boiling) water, melt butter and cheese. As cheese begins to melt, gradually stir in beer or ale. Cook only until smooth and hot. Stir in seasonings and serve at once from a casserole kept hot on a candlelit warming stand. Serve on toast points. YIELD: 4 to 6 servings.

Big Supp!y on TV Is Liability

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When the average filmed television series makes its network debut at the beginning of the season, there usually are from 6 to 26 completed episodes ready for broadcasting.

In the case of one established hit, "Hazel," the crew and cast worked through last spring and early summer on the fall product. With this head start the show took a long summer holiday that ended only two weeks ago.

But in the case of the new programs, this practice of storing up episodes so far in advance is dangerous and, in some cases, fatal. The backlog, produced at vast cost, prohibits changes and shifts of emphasis that might turn failure into a passable success, even a hit.

When plans were announced for CBS' new "Judy Garland show," the network hoped to have 13 shows completed before the variety hour had its premiere.

Because of a shift of producers resulting in a month's suspension of tapings, there were only five, and maybe it was a lucky break.

With a flexibility rare indeed in television, network executives recently pulled one show from its schedule and substituted another, made only two days before. They decided that it was a better show. And it was.

Usually, however, a series must go its pre-determined course. Story lines, formats and concepts—even players—are chosen by a handful of "experts" months, sometimes years before the public finally passes judgment. And too many times those experts goof. For each smart, timely guess—like "Ben Casey" and Vince Edwards or "Beverly Hillsbillies"—there are two or more shows that never get off their launching pads. There are the usual number this season.

Spending of Money Has to Be Taught

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bobby Vinton has a problem all of us should have—learning how to spend money.

"It's a habit," he explains. "I walk past a store window and see a beautiful suit and say, 'Gee, I wish I could buy that.' Then I stop and realize that I can."

"It was the same way when I bought a car."

Why should a fellow named Bobby Vinton be teaching himself how to spend?

Because the handsome lad from Cannonsburg, Pa., who once considered coal mining as a profession, is now tops in the pop music field. His single, "Blue Velvet," remains No. 1 among record sellers, following his other sensation, "Roses are Red."

His income tells the story of his success. Two years ago, it was $6,000. In 1963 it will exceed $250,000.

Bobby is no musical illiterate, like many singers who flash and fade. He was graduated from Duquesne University at 20 with a degree in music and the goal of becoming first oboist with the Pittsburgh Symphony.

That ambition vanished as he found success with dance bands in the Pittsburgh area. He eschewed rock 'n' roll for society-type music and warmed the hearts of adults, but not youngsters.

"I couldn't sing," said he, "But I knew I could sing better than some of them."

He tried it, in a smooth style, with some modern touches. He also made some recordings for Epic in New York.

Bobby is of Polish descent and hails from the same Pittsburgh suburb that spawned Perry Como.

Bobby now plays one-nighters all over the country and recently finished his first film, "Surf Party." His problem is convincing adults that he is an entertainer, not just a teen-age sound.

Deputies Shoot Negro to Death

MARION, Ark. (AP)—Benny Joe Drake, a 20-year-old Marion Negro, was shot to death by two sheriff's deputies Tuesday night during an apparent attempt to burglarize the Marion Post Office.

Sheriff Cecil Goodwin said Miss Lucy Rhodes, an employee of the Post Office who lives two doors away from the building, heard glass breaking at about 11 p.m. and called the sheriff's office.

Deputies Robert Warren and Billie Williams searched the building and found Drake huddled in a closet. When he was ordered out, Goodwin said, he had a pistol in his hand which he refused to drop.

Goodwin said Drake was shot once through the heart. It was not known which deputy fired the shot. The deputies said the pistol may have been taken from the postmaster's desk drawer.

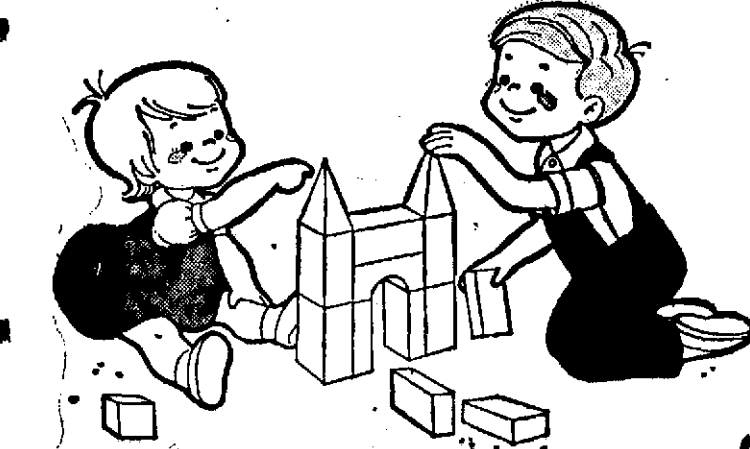

The Marion post office has been robbed three times in the past year and a half.

Goodwin said Drake had served time in the state penitentiary for burglary.

He Can Run

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An alderman does not have to resign to run for mayor, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett advised Bradley County Election Commission Chairman Ray Wood on Tuesday. Wood had asked if an alderman with a year to serve must resign to make a campaign for mayor.

Food Sense Not Nonsense

All the Blocks a Child Can Use

Building blocks are more than playthings for Baby Jamie and fast-growing John-John. They can be the nutrients in food called amino acids. Readily at hand is a way to develop for infants and toddlers a new and economical food, custom-made from wheat, which contains all the building blocks a child needs to grow and develop—and nearly all the other nutrients to boot. The schematic for this food has been drawn up by research, at the American Institute of Baking in Chicago, on the amino acids in wheat's proteins.

Dr. William Bradley, scientific director of the Institute, has suggested that nutritionists can put into action this schematic for feeding infants and children. At a recent nutrition conference in California on the Role of Wheat in the World's Food Supply, he reported that the milling process sifts out certain wheat flours with an especially high nutritional value. Being concentrated, these flours contain a substantially higher amount of the building block, lysine—apt to be short in cereal grains—than does the wheat berry itself. With cooked cereals made from these flours, infants and toddlers would satisfy their higher protein and lysine requirements, he proposed.

That traditional wheat foods materially meet the nutrient requirements of older children and adults is history. As the major food of large population groups, grains made civilization possible. Wheat had all the building blocks man needed. In light of America's food export program to underdeveloped and hungry nations, the value of wheat takes on added significance. The contribution that bread and other cereal foods can make here and abroad is being studied, recognized, and appreciated.

Folk Singers Told REA Is Broke

WASHINGTON (AP) — They carried fiddles and guitars, but banknotes—not musical notes—were on their minds.

And they were thinking to the tune of $20 million.

The ambitious group of folk singers from Mountain View, Ark., asked the Area Redevelopment Administration for $5 million over the next five years to help turn an 18-county Ozark Mountain area into a tourist attraction and the folk singing center of the nation.

But the ARA said it was broke.

There to boost the project were Ted Morley of the Arkansas Planning Commission; John Ohlitz, state ARA coordinator; singer Jimmie Driftwood; writer Harold Sherman; most members of the Arkansas congressional delegation; and others.

William Batt, ARA administrator, listened to the a cappella performance and watched movie slides of Ozark scenery. He said he liked the sound of it and would give it "most serious consideration."

The Arkansans want to build a folk culture center in Mountain View, develop a nearby cave, build a new water and sewer system for the town and develop various recreation areas and parks including areas at the Greers Ferry, Bull Shoals and Norfolk reservoirs.

Batt said he'd "have to put on my banker's hat and tell you that while we have loan funds available we have no grant money left—not a nickel—and haven't had since June 30."

He said the ARA can't continue to operate without help from Congress, whereupon Sen. J. William Fulbright, D - Ark., said:

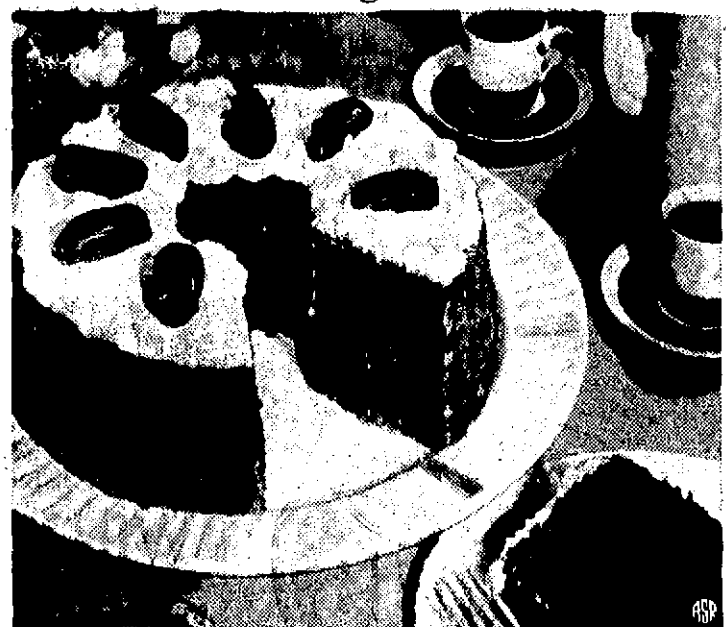

"Don't say Congress—say the House."

The Senate has passed a bill providing additional ARA funds, but the House killed a similar measure.

Spokesmen for the group said some private capital is available, but they need a $1.4 million loan and grant for the folk center, $900,000 for the water and sewer system and additional money for other features of the program.

Sherman said the cave was so large that Carlsbad Cavern could "but put in one corner and never noticed." He said it would attract millions of tourists. And, Sherman said, the entire program would provide a tremendous economic shot in the arm for the entire area.

Date Crown on Regal Chocolate Cake

The popularity of chocolate cake should zoom to new heights when you serve festive "Date Crown Chocolate Cake."

It's no trouble to make with packaged chocolate chiffon cake mix prepared with chopped fresh California dates, nuts and grated orange rind. And the garnish of whipped cream and pitted whole fresh dates from the California desert distinguishes it as a dessert to be reckoned with.

You'll find both pitted and unpitted moist fresh California dates packaged in cartons, bags, tray packs and round plastic containers in the produce sections of markets as well as on grocery shelves. They do exotic wonders to a wealth of desserts, meat sauces and salads.

Date Crown Chocolate Cake
1 cup fresh California dates 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
2 tablespoons sifted 1 tablespoon finely grated
all-purpose flour orange rind
1 package (1 lb. 2.8 oz.) Sweetened whipped cream chocolate chiffon cake Pitted whole fresh
mix California dates

Very finely chop 1 cup dates; mix with flour. Prepare cake as package directs, blending floured dates, nuts and orange rind thoroughly into chocolate mixture before combining with egg white mixture. Turn into ungreased 10-inch tube pan; bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tests done. Invert cake and cool thoroughly. Loosen cake from pan with spatula and turn out onto serving platter. Garnish with cream and pitted whole dates.
Makes 12 servings.

Legislators Argue About Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four Arkansas legislators squared off in a telecast Tuesday night on the pros and cons of revising the state constitution.

Reps. David Pryor of Ouachita County and Virgil T. Butler of Independence County, in an appearance on the KTHV (Channel 7) program moderated by George Moore favored revision. But Sen. Merle F. Peterson of Dumas and Rep. John E. Miller of Independence County had their doubts.

Butler said such a convention was the quickest and most logical way to get needed governmental reforms.

Pryor said legal sources believe the present constitution, written in 1874, was a temporary measure to deal with the carpetbag period after the Civil War.

Miller said he thought constitutional changes should be made one proposal at a time but Butler said 40 constitutional amendments were proposed by legislators during the last session.

"If that many legislators think changes are needed, why not open it up and get recommendations from others," Butler said.

Peterson said he didn't have strong convictions either way on constitutional revision.

On reforms Butler said changes were needed in the structure of county government and the judicial system. "The governor's term should be limited to eight years to prevent a person 'from staying office so long they get to thinking it belongs to them,'" he said.

Pryor said a new constitution would be written through five steps. He said the legislature would authorize it and then appropriate the money for it, con-

Strikers Get Deadline for Return

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas Board of Trustees said Tuesday that striking employees can return to their jobs at the university without prejudice if they report by Friday morning.

The move was made on recommendation of Gov. Orval E.

Faubus. Board Chairman Dallas P. Raney of Little Rock told Faubus in a letter that he was also setting up a committee of board members to investigate circumstances of the strike.

Faubus advised the action in a letter Tuesday.

Named to the investigating committee were Leon Callett of Little Rock, Fred Pickens of Newport and R. A. Young Jr. of Fort Smith.

About 75 non-teaching employees went on strike Oct. 4 for higher wages, better working conditions and more job security. Most of them are members of Local 965 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers (AFL-CIO).

Faubus has said the dispute can be settled by negotiation.

Dr. David W. Mullins, university president, issued a statement last Friday saying the university would not negotiate with a union, but would be glad to discuss grievances with individual employees.

Raney said he hoped the employees would return to work so a condition of normalcy would prevail at the university during the investigation.

The committee will be asked to make a preliminary report to the board at its regular Oct. 25 meeting if a complete report is not available by then, Raney said.

Sees Future in Plywood From Pine

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — An Arkansas forest official said Tuesday long-range development of a new major southern industry is assured now by new techniques for making structural plywood from pine.

W. C. Norman of Crossett, a vice president of Georgia Pacific Corp., told a regional meeting of the Forest Products Research Society that the industry's first pine plywood mill will be put into operation by his firm at Fordyce by December this year.

Norman said G-P and other companies are also planning other such mills.

Not all of the South's current timber production meets size and quality requirements of plywood production, but foresters have learned what they need to grow and have demonstrated that they can grow it, Norman said.

He said plywood production from other softwoods will reach 10.5 billion square feet this year, continuing an annual increase of about 10 per cent. Continued growth of the industry must come in the South because western fir forests are reaching their sustained-yield capacity, Norman said.

Why is Borden's the milk for children?

JUST THE RIGHT AMOUNT OF CREAM FOR FLAVOR CHILDREN LIKE!

Every half gallon of Borden's Milk contains almost two cups of cream. That's more cream than required by government regulations. Borden's standard of excellence always goes beyond minimum legal requirements. Plenty of rich cream gives extra flavor to Borden's Homogenized Milk. Every last sip tastes so good that children, the best judges of milk flavor, often ask for another glass.

Now the new plastic coated half-gallon carton is virtually leakproof. It is easy to open with a flexible spout that controls pouring.

Racketeering in Florida Is Disclosed

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probes heard testimony today of Mafia terrorism in central Florida's gay playland — killing and racketeering too carefully managed by a national crime syndicate for any local police force to crush.

Police Chief Neil G. Brown of Tampa told the Senate Investigations subcommittee there have been 23 "gangland slayings" in the Tampa area since 1928, only one of them solved.

Brown said the killings show "how the Mafia uses murder to discipline its membership, to revenge itself against violators of its code and to otherwise eliminate opposition to its criminal activities and goals," and how difficult it is to get witnesses to talk.

Of 145 homicides other than gang killings between 1958 and the end of 1962, he said, only four remain unsolved, and every homicide in the 1960-62 period has been solved.

Brown appealed for federal help for the police of all states and cities in the war on organized crime in which, he said, there are too many frustrations now.

He urged Congress to legalize police tapping of telephone lines, provide federal grants to help finance the training of local police specialists in gang busting techniques, and create a "national clearing house for criminal intelligence" to help all police agencies coordinate efforts.

Brown's testimony started the final scheduled week of hearings following up testimony by mobster Joseph Valachi. Valachi has sworn he was a professional killer for a nationwide syndicate whose members call it Cosa Nostra, although police call it the Mafia — the term used by Brown.

Indian Drink Birth-Rate Controller

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)

—Shoshone Indian squaws know what they are doing when they drink a cold water extract as a birth control measure, two professors say.

The National Institutes of Health awarded a $27,000 grant Monday to the professors, Gestur Johnson and Stanley Sunderwirth, to continue their study for three years.

Sunderwirth and Johnson said the squaws drink the extract from roots of the lithospermum ruderalis plant to reduce fertility. The plant grows in mountainous areas of Colorado.

Sunderwirth and Johnson, on the staff of Colorado State University, said biological effects of oxidized acid from the lithospermum result in "inhibition of ovulation in the laying hen and inhibition of ovarian growth in the immature female rat."

Kennedy Can Not Carry Arkansas

Faubus

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today his poll indicates President Kennedy could not carry Arkansas at this time and "it's not even close."

The governor said, however, that his latest poll was conducted before Kennedy visited the state Oct. 3.

Faubus commented on the polls when asked at a news conference about figures published in Newsweek Magazine indicating that Kennedy had picked up strength nationally since 1960.

"I believe my pollster is a little wiser," Faubus said. "It's difficult to project a year ahead but the picture at this time indicates a major falling off of support in Arkansas."

Faubus said his poll did not indicate any potential Democratic candidate who might be preferable to Kennedy in the eyes of Arkansans.

"There is a real dearth of Democratic candidates," he said. "Everyone thinks it is a foregone conclusion that Kennedy will be nominated again next year."

Faubus said, as he has remarked before, that his surveys indicate Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona would carry Arkansas if the president-

High Court Rejects Hope Firm's Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court refused to consider Monday the appeal of Graydon Anthony Lumber Co. of Hope in a compensation suit.

The firm contended that rulings by federal courts in Arkansas conflicted with state laws in ruling for Louisiana and Arkansas Railway in the suit.

Herman Cloudy, a brakeman for the railroad, sued Louisiana and Arkansas Railway for $39,218 after he fell from a box car while loading chips near the lumber firm's load shed.

The railroad in turn sued the lumber company, claiming it had created a hazard at the shed.

Both the federal District Court in Arkansas and the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled against the lumber company.

ial election were held at this time.

Faubus has indicated strongly that Kennedy will not have his personal support in 1964. Faubus worked for the President in 1960, but without great vigor.

Fish in Good Supply

Fly high the banners! October is the month of the Fish and Seafood Parade, a time when the harvest is full and prices are down. Although there is a great variety of fresh and frozen fish on the market during October, the two varieties suggested here seem to be growing in popularity by leaps and bounds. Last year, for example, Americans consumed 370 million pounds of all forms of fresh, frozen and canned shrimp and 79 million pounds of frozen breaded fish squares or rectangles (sometimes called portions, steaks, burgers or filets).

In the Mazola kitchens at Best Foods, the home economists have developed the following methods for frying frozen fish squares and breaded shrimp.

Breaded Shrimp and Fish Squares

To deep fry: Fill a deep skillet or large heavy saucepan with Mazola corn oil at least 1 inch deep but with utensil not more than 1/4 full. Heat to 375°F. or until a 1-inch cube of bread browns in 40 seconds. Add frozen shrimp or fish squares; cook about 2 to 3 minutes or until golden brown on the bottom; turn, cook 2 to 3 minutes longer or until fish is cooked through.

To pan fry: Add Mazola corn oil to skillet until it is 1/4 inch deep. Heat over medium heat 3 minutes. Add frozen shrimp or fish squares, cook about 2 to 3 minutes or until bottom side is golden brown. Turn, cook 2 to 3 minutes longer or until fish is cooked through.

Serve either variety of fish with this good Cucumber Sauce.

Cucumber Sauce

1/2 cup real mayonnaise 2 teaspoons lemon juice

1/2 cup milk 1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup chopped peeled cucumber Dash pepper

Blend mayonnaise and milk in saucepan. Cook over low heat 3 minutes. Stir in cucumber, parsley, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Serve warm with fish. Makes 1 cup.

Bronco Billy Made It and Spent It

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I made a lot of money with one hand and I spent it with the other. I have no regrets. Money is nice to have when you're young, but it wouldn't do me any good now."

The man speaking was Bronco Billy Anderson, who 60 years ago appeared in the first real movie, "The Great Train Robbery." He could be classed as the first real star of films.

Bronco Billy, 81, is vigorous despite a leg ailment that confines him most of the time to his Wilshire District apartment. He lives in a single room, heavy with cigar smoke and mementos from his great days as Western hero and film mogul. Atop the television set rests the Oscar he was awarded in 1958 for his contributions to the screen.

He is enjoying one of his periodic re-acquaintances with the spotlight. He'll be featured on NBC-TV next Monday on David Wolper's review of the Western film, "Hollywood and the Stars." The network paired him with one of the newest cowboy stars, Gary Clarke of "The Virginian."

The old man seems to thrive on the attention and he reminisces vividly about what he calls the diaper-days of movies. It all started when he convinced Edwin S. Porter to expend a whole nine minutes of film on an old vaudeville sketch called "The Great Train Robbery."

"Before that, movies had been no more than two minutes long," he said. "Our backers were reluctant. They said audiences wouldn't sit still for a whole reel. I said they would, and they did."

The film was a boon to the spawning industry, and Anderson came to Los Angeles to seek locales for shooting Westerns. "I tried making movies with authentic cowboys and back-grounds, but something was wrong; they weren't selling," he said. "I decided it was because there was no central figure for the audience to get interested in."

So he bought a Peter B. Kyne story about Bronco Billy. Finding no name actor willing to take the role, he assumed it himself. For six years he ground out Bronco Billies, retiring in 1914 under the overpowering competition of William S. Hart.

2 Counties Ask for Drouth Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two more Arkansas counties requested drought assistance from the Department of Agriculture Monday. Thirty three other counties did so previously.

White County asked that farmers be allowed to buy government corn at reduced prices for livestock and requested that farmers be permitted to cut hay and graze cattle on land in the soil bank program. Randolph County also re-

Camden Has Good Supply of Water

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Despite the drought, Camden has not been faced with a water shortage and current and proposed construction will decrease chances even more of a future water shortage.

Paul Edwards, manager of the Camden Municipal Water Works, says that 279,855,261 gallons of water is flowing past the Ouachita River gauge at Camden even though gauge readings have been low for the longest period since water supply dams

Class Told About Facts of Life

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The teacher spoke about the human body and told how babies are born.

Some of the junior high school pupils reddened, a bit embarrassed as they avoided the sly glances of their classmates. Others snickered. Most, however, took the subject seriously and listened intently.

Sex education is an important part of the curriculum of Philadelphia's junior and senior public high schools.

What sex is taught to children 13 and older in segregated classes? Either all boys with a male teacher, or all girls with a female teacher.

The Philadelphia Board of Education has been teaching about "marriage problems and social hygiene"—a more high-sounding description of sex—for more than 25 years.

Teachers don't preach, they describe. They don't moralize or condemn. They don't advise or suggest, they tell children who want personal answers to personal questions—which teachers can't handle under state school laws—to see their parents, clergymen or doctors.

"We try to develop an attitude so youngsters will make up their own mind," says Benjamin L. Stackowski, director of the division of physical and health education.

Dorothy R. McQueen, Stackowski's assistant, says full discussion of marriage problems formerly was confined to the senior high classes—with pupils generally 17 and 18—but we have found this age level is too late.

The health education course, last revised in 1950, is being reviewed so younger boys and girls can be reached.

Philadelphia public school pupils get hygiene once a week for 45 minutes. Sex is only part of the course. They also are taught about foods, diet, first aid, exercise, community health.

Sharp County, which previously had been granted haying and grazing privileges asked to join the government livestock feeding program.

California Swimmer to Try Channel

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A teenage Sacramento girl, the youngest person to swim the chilly 25-mile length of Lake Ta-were built on the upper watershed of the river.

International Paper Co. and the city of Camden use 20 million gallons of water daily from the river, Edwards said.

H. K. Thatcher, secretary of the Ouachita River Valley Association, said the amount of water available in the watershed would be doubled when the De-Gray reservoir, now under construction on the Caddo River is completed.

Another 200 million gallons would be added to the supply when the proposed Benton Dam on the upper Saline River is constructed, Edwards said.

hoe, has set her sights on the English Channel and she's confident she'll swim it next year.

Leonore Modell, 13-year-old eighth grader, swam the cold, Sierra Mountain lake in 14 hours, 34 minutes last week despite winds strong enough to whip up whitecaps.

Her coach, Paul Herron of the Sacramento YMCA, said her time is a Tahoe record. Few have swum the length of the lake, and the best previous time Herron remembers was "about 17½ hours" by a man.

Leonore will be 14 next August when Herron plans to take her to France to practice for her channel attempt early in September.

"My goal is to swim the channel," she said. "I don't know beyond that. I'd like to try to break records in different countries around the world, I guess."

Born and raised in Sacramento, her father George, a carpenter, taught her how to swim when she was five.

'Hot Line' Test Made Every Hour

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once every hour a bell shrills and the "hot line" teletype connection between the Pentagon and the Kremlin springs to life.

A message chatters across that line—across the 5,200 miles separating the center of Soviet power and the U.S. capital.

It's not a life-and-death message from President Kennedy to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, of the other way around.

It's a test, made hourly around the clock to be certain the circuit—which has another outlet at the White House—is working and ready in event of an emergency requiring instantaneous communication between the Russian and U.S. heads of state.

This has been going on since the line was declared open on Aug. 30. If there have been any communications between Kennedy and Khrushchev during the six weeks the "hot line" has been in business, they are being kept secret. The Defense Department and the White House refuse to discuss the subject.

There is reason to believe the hot line was not used during last week's brief tension over Soviet halting of a U.S. troop convoy bound for West Berlin.

The only break in secrecy surrounding hot line messages became last month when William C. Foster, U.S. disarmament agency chief, told a House committee a Soviet test transmission "described in lyrical language the beauties of a Moscow sunset."

The Pentagon refused to give out the text of that Russian message, or any others received since, saying, "transmissions on the communication link between the USSR and the U.S. are considered 'privacy transmissions'."

ALC to Examine Seven Audits

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Joint Legislative Audit Committee will review seven audits at its 2 p.m. meeting Saturday at the State Capitol.

State auditor Orvel M. Johnson said the audits would be of the Insurance Department, Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, Board of Massage Examiners, Livestock and Horse Show Prizes and Awards, the State Penitentiary and the Penitentiary Retirement System, State Police Retirement System and the pay and expenses of Circuit and Chancery Court Judges and Prosecuting Attorneys.

on the American end of the line haven't tried to match the Soviets in the phrase department. The Americans have confined themselves to the standard, "The quick brown fox jumped over a lazy dog's back."

"It has proven to be the best alphabetical test devised," the Defense Department said.

Testimonial for R. H. Sikes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A testimonial dinner for R. H. Sikes of Springdale who won the Mexican Amateur Golf Tournament Sunday, will be held at Fayetteville Oct. 27.

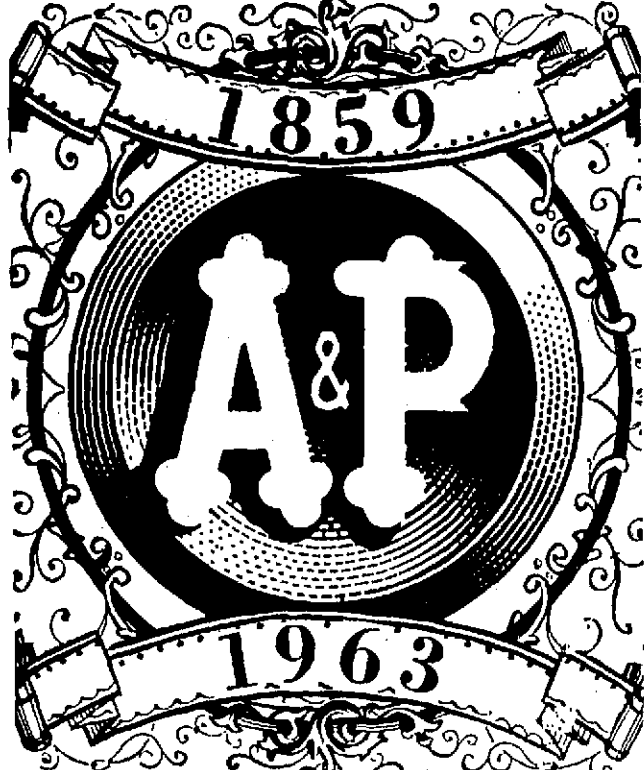

John Winters of Tulsa, Okla., president of the U. S. Golf Association, and Joseph Dey Jr. of New York City, executive director of the USGA, will be featured speakers.

The banquet is sponsored by golf fans from Fayetteville and Sikes' home town.

Some 300 persons are expected to attend.

Sikes is winner of the NCAA tournament, won the Putter of the Year award, was runner-up in the National Amateur event, and took part in the Walker, Eisenhower and Americas Cup teams during the past season.

The Walker, Eisenhower and Americas Cup trophies will be on display at the Fayetteville Country Club during the dinner, by special arrangement with the USGA.

Dry Soup Mix Gives Old Fashioned Flavor To Modern Favorites

With the crackle of leaves underfoot and the crispness of fall in the air, appetites undergo a transformation. How appealing the taste and aroma of a hearty rib-sticking meal again!

Potato salad makes the transition with the appetites. A favorite of the summer menu, this turns into a winter dish of long standing fame.

The Germans brought us the basic recipe . . . and the Pennsylvania Dutch have featured it on their tables for hundreds of years. How appropriate to be able to turn to the ultimate in canned convenience foods—canned dry soup mixes.

Canned onion dry soup mix turns this Hot Frank and Potato Salad into a supper scene "stealer". Saucing the potatoes and frankfurters is a mixture of canned onion dry soup mix, vinegar, brown sugar, parsley, celery seed, and sour cream. Serve it with a favorite green vegetable and spice cake for dessert.

Hot Frank and Potato Salad
1 pound frankfurters, cut diagonally in 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup (1 1/2 ounces) onion dry soup mix
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
Generous dash pepper
1/4 cup sour cream
4 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon celery seed

In skillet, brown franks in butter. Remove from heat; blend in dry soup mix and flour. Gradually add water, vinegar, sugar, and pepper. Bring to boil, stirring until thickened. Partially cover; simmer 10 minutes, stirring now and then. Blend in sour cream; add remaining ingredients. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

NEA Frowns on Driver Education

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the weekend the National Education Association came out against the practice of state legislatures requiring high schools to provide driver training.

At first glance, this looked something like opposing good manners, good sportsmanship or good health.

It wasn't at all. The NEA, an organization of teachers and school administrators, has no objection to boys and girls learning how to drive safely.

What happened was this: An NEA-sponsored report said the role of the legislatures is to set forth general goals and provide financial support. It said decisions on what to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

An NEA spokesman said the recommendation was adopted because some state laws require courses on such things as communism and state history and several states require high schools to provide driver training.

The American Automobile Association, which has pioneered in the work, reports that youngsters who have had driver training have fewer accidents and traffic law violations than those who haven't had it.

The Automotive Safety Foundation puts it this way:

"High school driver education offers a tested opportunity to improve the bad accident record of the teen-ager. The program is on probation and needs aggressive support so that more youngsters in more schools can have the benefit of training."

"The under-20 group has about 6,400 accidents a day at an estimated cost of about $1 billion a year."

"They account for only 7.1 per cent of the licensed drivers but 6,400 of them were involved in 13.2 per cent of the fatal accidents in 1962."

Last year about 3.1 million young people reached driving age. Of these, 1.31 million, or 42 per cent, were enrolled in driver education courses. The percentage has been about the same since 1955.

As the nation's population increases so will the number of drivers. However, the number of young drivers will increase more rapidly than those in other age groups.

It's a sobering thought to anyone who witnesses wild driving by young people, or has to pay the extra-high insurance rates that such driving demands.

The St. Francis River sunken and in Craighead and Mississippi Counties are known as the home of the world's largest bullfrogs, descendants of the original "Swamp Angels".

Boycott Is Pressed at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An intensified buying boycott by Negroes against downtown stores has been urged by integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He also said a decision could come this week on whether Birmingham will face "bigger and ever" racial demonstrations.

At a mass rally Monday night King charged white merchants with broken promises in complying with an agreement which ended demonstrations last May.

King said he was in Birmingham to evaluate the racial situation and progress made since he and other Negro leaders pressed two demands on city leaders a week ago.

At that time, he and Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, president of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, asked the city to hire 25 Negro policemen within two weeks and hold a face-to-face meeting with the organization and other Negro leaders.

Mayor Albert Boutwell flatly rejected the meeting, stating that the City Council would meet only with "bona fide" Negro residents of the city.

2 Face Trial on Bribe Count

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two men charged with trying to bribe North Little Rock aldermen will be tried in February, Circuit Judge William J. Kirby said Monday.

Attorneys entered pleas of innocent for Ervin L. Brickhouse, 30, of Beebe and W. B. Stephens, 40, of Stuttgart.

They are charged with conspiring to bribe aldermen to approve a contract for construction of a clubhouse at Burns Park golf course. No aldermen are alleged to have been involved.

Cause of Air Crash Is Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators probed the burned wreckage of a twin-engine helicopter today seeking to determine why it crashed, killing all six aboard.

The 10-ton Boeing Vertol 107 had just lifted off Monday for a seven-minute flight from Idlewild Airport to the East River heliport at the foot of Wall Street in Manhattan when it exploded about 100 feet in the air.

It was the first fatal crash in the 10 years that New York Airways has been shuttling pas-

Chief Kresh spoke not a word all the while he retraced the way to Zephyr Isle. Caught between deference and responsibility the chief was reluctant to act against a member of a family as prominent as the Caradens, but he had placed himself under the command of a stronger man who would press through regardless. Having passed the buck, he must cling to Barcello's lead. Several times he tried to say something sympathetic to Blake, but words would not come out. The closer he came to the end of the trip, the more he was relieved.

An open sports car — Blake recognized it as Dr. Bliss's — was parked at the Wingate home behind the ambulance — the same ambulance that had come for Val's body this morning. The chief was also disconcerted; he braked to a hard stop. Blake swung out with a hurried "Thanks!"

In the Wingates' living room Blake found a stillness. Tessa, Todd and Ruth were there. Wearing a lacy robe over her nightgown, Tessa was sitting and staring, blank-eyed with shock. Todd was standing near her, stiff-faced, looking at a loss. Ruth had been crying; her reddened eyes turned to Blake in pitiable sorrow.

"Win," Blake said.

Todd nodded. "Only . . . half an hour ago."

Tessa sat enshrouded in emotional and mental grayness while Ruth explained brokenly to Blake.

"Dad seemed . . . so much better tonight. He'd been resting . . . we'd been keeping him in bed. We stayed with him all evening . . . just talking. Then later . . . while Mother was in the shower . . . suddenly he sat straight up, looking . . . looking horrified . . . and then he just toppled over." Ruth put her handkerchief to her eyes. "It's strange . . . how you notice little things at a time like that. It was just three minutes past 11."

A man came out of the bedroom: Dr. Bliss. His close-cut hair was pure white, his face young. He was carrying his medicine case in one hand, a small white envelope in the other. He gave the envelope to Ruth.

"Get your mother into bed, Ruthie. Make her take two of sengers between metropolitan airports.

The line grounded all helicopters after the crash, pending determination of the cause.

Only three passengers and three crew members, including a stewardess, were aboard the ill-fated craft. It had a passenger capacity of 25.

"I heard a loud explosion—like a big truck backfire—and I turned around and all I saw was a ball of fire," said one witness, an American Airlines employee who declined use of his name.

One of the two gas-turbine engines which rotate twin propellers became dislodged and hurtled to the ground. The fuselage spiraled down slowly, burning on impact near the center of the 4,900-acre airport.

Federal officials haven't confirmed that an explosion occurred.

these tablets. She'll sleep." They watched him buzzing off along the drive in his lively little car. Todd stood looking out over the dark bay. Blake sensed that something in Todd had changed, that a long-held tension was slowly easing; but he was unprepared for the words Todd spoke, so quietly that he might have been speaking to himself.

"All for nothing . . . nothing." And Todd added: "Now it can be told. Now . . . it can be told."

Todd walked into the grounds, and Blake followed.

He turned to a bench on the opposite side of the pier. Blake sat beside him.

"You're right, kid, I've been lying to you. There's no need for it . . . for most of it . . . any more. I couldn't tell you the truth before, but I owe it to you now."

He leaned forward, elbows on his knees, hands clasped together.

"All that . . . all I told you . . . was a cover-up. I had to explain myself somehow . . . and still cover up what was really going on."

"One thing I told the truth about — when you asked me about George Gibbon, I'd never laid eyes on him. But I've known all along what he was up to. I got that from Val. To begin with, there's something about Gibbon that Barcello doesn't seem to know, evidently because he hasn't dug back far enough. Gibbon was working for Win as his accountant at the time Win was building Plantation Manor."

Blake was startled, not so much by the bare fact as by its implications.

"Val first met Gibbon at that time, when she and Ruth and Tessa came to Plantation Manor to look around. Gibbon kept the firm's books all through it. It was the best job he had ever had . . . or has had since . . . and he lived in fear of losing it. "I don't know what Gibbon suspected at the time, if anything. There must have been a certain amount of juggling going on, and he couldn't have helped noticing. He was too timid to say much, and if he raised any questions Win must have satisfied him." Todd gave Blake a long look. "You're probably ahead of me on this. The fact was, all those new investors of Win's, except three fairly light ones were dummies."

"It was Val's money."

"The big point is this," Todd said. "Win did secretly use Val's money. But later he put it back—all of it. Meanwhile he'd even gone on crediting her with income from it—income that hadn't been earned, but paid out of principal."

"You might say she didn't lose a cent."

"Not one red cent."

"But it's not as simple as all that."

New Old-Fashioned Baked Beans

Out of Idaho's bean bags and your scrap bag comes Beanie the Clown with a partner or three. Fun to make while dinner's Pot-o-Beans slow-bakes unattended, sending its tantalizing fragrance all over the house. These Baked Beans have something which cannot be bought—the flavor of Home!

The bean "recipe" is traditional except for the use of Idaho-grown large white Great Northern variety of dried beans. Sometimes, break with tradition and use instead Idaho's dappled Pinto beans, a flavor treat indeed.

Old-Time Pot-O-Beans
2 pounds (4 and 3/4 cups) Idaho Great Northern Beans, washed and soaked
2 medium onions, chopped (1 cup)
3/4 pound salt pork
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup molasses

Wash beans; add 3 quarts water. Bring to boiling point rapidly. Boil 2 minutes only. Add 1/2 teaspoon soda. Cover; let stand 1 hour. Or soak overnight in measured amount of cold water and the soda. Either method—bring to boiling point in the soaking water. Add 2 tablespoons salad oil or butter to cut down foam. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until beans are tender but firm, about 1 hour. Using a slotted spoon, place beans in cooking pot in alternate layers with chopped onions and the salt pork cut in 1/2-inch slices. Mix together remaining ingredients with the bean liquid. Pour over the beans, adding enough boiling water so that beans are covered. Put on the tight-fitting lid or foil and lid. Bake in a 250 degree F. (slow) oven for 8 hours, adding some boiling water if beans are not quite covered. Just before serving, remove lid; raise oven heat to brown surface. Makes 12 hearty servings.

Yours for the asking: If you would like a pattern for the Clown Bean Bag, send a post card to Idaho Bean Commission, 212 Continental Life Building, Boise, Idaho.

Committee Works Over Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $11-billion tax cut bill ran into rough going before the Senate Finance Committee today.

Before secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon could even begin his plea for quick action, two Democratic senators protested what they said were intimidation and pressure tactics in behalf of the bill.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said a telegram sent out by an official of the Democratic National Committee might even be an effort to purge him.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said that "recently public statements," which he did not further describe, "have the characteristics of pressure propaganda" and were highly unfair to his committee.

Both Gore and Byrd are opposed to the bill.

The telegram to which Gore referred was sent by William Keel, director of research for party national committee.

Gore demanded that Keel be asked to testify, and said he should be subpoenaed if he did not appear voluntarily. Byrd said this seemed to be a reasonable request.

Gore read from one of the telegrams received in what he described as a mountain county in Tennessee he said the recipient, whose name he withheld, was told that the tax cut was vital to the 17,496 residents of the county because it would mean an average tax cut of $436 for each family.

Gore said many families in the county would not get any such thing. The Treasury Department has estimated that an average family of four with a $10,000 yearly income would get a cut of $202.

Keel confirmed Monday that such telegrams were being sent out over the country but said, "We're certainly not trying to intimidate anybody."

Byrd read a prepared statement denying charges of "undue delay" which he said had been made against his committee.

He said "the facts are" that it took the administration 30 months to draft its tax program after President Kennedy first notified Congress it was in the works, and that it took the House eight months to act on it.

Surely, he said, his committee is entitled to spend some weeks on such a complex and comprehensive measure.

The House passed the bill Sept. 25. Since then, the committee has been studying it in closed sessions with its staff experts.

Dillon, the first public witness, came prepared with facts and figures to stress a need for urgency in approving the bill this year.

Contracts Go to Printing Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant sent low bid notices on 69 state printing contracts to the State Printing Board Tuesday.

Among the some $2 million worth of contracts the board will let was a tie bid for furnishing stationary and office supplies.

That contract will be shared by two Little Rock firms who each offered to provide the material at 41.2 per cent below the St. Louis list price.

Parkin Printing and Stationary Co. will have the contract the first year and Arkansas Printing and Lithographing Co. the second under an agreement worked out with Bryant and announced last week.

The contract is estimated to be worth between $250,000 to $400,000 annually, depending on the amount of supplies ordered.

Bryant said the state will save about $18,000 a year by allowing the firms to share the contracts.

Historical Event on TV Tuesday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — What must be one of the historic events of television took place Tuesday with the "Town Meeting of the World."

To accommodate Telstar II it was shown at 8:30 a.m., EDT, but CBS, American host of the hour-long program will rebroadcast it tonight at 7:30-8:30.

Four eminent churchmen sat down together, electronically speaking, to discuss what CBS called "The Christian revolution."

In Rome there was Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika and a Catholic writer, the Rev. Hans Kung of West Germany. From London came the Right Rev. Leslie Newbigin, a Presbyterian who is head of his church in South India. From Princeton, N.J. Theological Seminary came the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of the American Lutheran Church.

Telstar was temperamental throughout the program and on several occasions the sound was lost from Rome.

The big questions raised, many involving Christian unity and the population explosion, sounded controversial but the answers were never heated.

Richard Boone's recent automobile accident disrupted, along with his own NBC series, this week's "Password" plans. The CBS game show, taped recently in Hollywood, had booked Boone for its day-time panel along with Jane Wyatt.

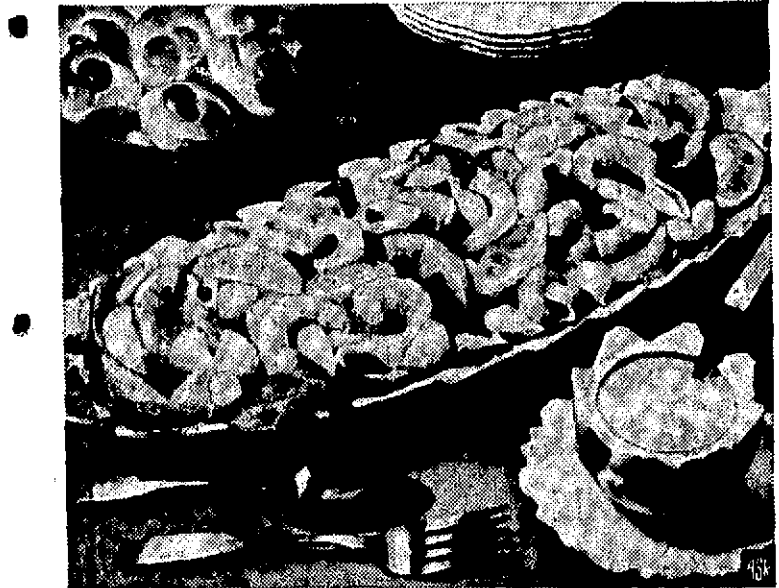

When Boone was unable to appear on the Monday and Tuesday shows, host Allen Ludden joined the panel while announcer Jack Clark took over Ludden's job. As a player, Ludden committed all of the sins which he, as moderator, frowns upon. He used his hands to amplify.

Listeners were from Logan, Pope, Conway, Yell, Johnson and Franklin counties.

Colorful Florida Seacoast Salad

October 1 through 21 is Fish 'n Seafood Parade time—time to mix a colorful, refreshing salad that's glamorous-looking but relatively inexpensive to serve. Chilled fresh shrimp, green beans, macaroni shells and pimiento combine with crisp celery and zesty canned Florida grapefruit sections. (Of course, fresh Florida grapefruit is delicious to use, and it will appear soon in your market.) The accompanying remoulade dressing contains frozen Florida grapefruit juice concentrate to give it extra pungency.

Florida Seacoast Salad

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup dried pimiento
1/2 cup dry mustard
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup Florida grapefruit juice concentrate, thawed, divided
2 pounds raw shrimp, cooked and cleaned
2 cups cooked macaroni shells (1 cup raw)

1/4 cup diced pimiento
1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut green beans, thawed or 1 can (1 pound) cut green beans, drained
1 1/2 cups sliced celery
3 cans (1 pound each) Florida grapefruit sections, drained and chilled
Salad greens

Combine salt, dry mustard, salad oil and Tabasco in bowl. Add grapefruit juice concentrate reserving 2 tablespoons for Grapefruit Remoulade Dressing. Add shrimp and refrigerate several hours or overnight, stirring once or twice. Combine cooked macaroni shells, pimiento, green beans and celery; mix well. Drain seafood and add with grapefruit sections to macaroni mixture; toss lightly. Serve over crisp greens with Grapefruit Remoulade Dressing. YIELD: 8 servings.

Grapefruit Remoulade Dressing

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
1/4 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons frozen Florida grapefruit juice concentrate (reserved from salad)
2 teaspoons horseradish

Blend Tabasco into mayonnaise. Reserve some of chopped egg for garnish. Add remaining egg and other ingredients. Garnish with chopped egg. YIELD: 1 cup.

Easy and Elegant—Coffee Raisin Pilau

A practically perfect dessert, we'd say, is one that is quickly and easily made, but manages to look elegant, taste delicious. If it has an exotic origin, such as Coffee Raisin Pilau, so much the better. This simple dessert version of the oriental rice and spice combination is studded with raisins and chopped walnuts.

You'll want a fragrant potful of hot coffee to serve with Coffee Raisin Pilau. Coffee, like pilau, originated in the East—which may be why they complement each other so well. Just make certain your coffee is brewed fresh and rich, served steaming.

Coffee Raisin Pilau

1 1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 1/2 cups extra-strength coffee
1/2 cup golden raisins
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Prepare pre-cooked rice according to package directions, using coffee instead of water. Stir in remaining ingredients except cream and mix well. Cool. Fold in whipped cream, reserving enough for garnishing. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Top with remaining whipped cream and a few chopped walnut meats. Makes 6 servings.

Stop Smoking Clinic for Research

EDITOR'S NOTE: A month has gone by since AP staff writer Michael Keating and 59 other men attempted to quit smoking in an experimental clinic sponsored by Roswell Park Memorial Institute, New York State's cancer-research center. Here is Keating's third report.

By MICHAEL KEATING
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — After 15 years and 109,500 cigarettes, I have quit smoking.

So have 29 other men—all of us taking part in an experimental stop-smoking clinic that bolsters will power with drugs and psychology.

The clinic has been under way for a month and I have not had a cigarette since it began. Desire for one is almost negligible. A month ago it dominated me.

Although clinic doctors are withholding final judgment on their work until six months have passed, my mind is made up—Roswell Park Memorial Institute has a technique that helps a smoker stop without too much of a wrench.

Of the 60 men who started in the clinic a month ago, 30 no longer are smoking, 19 have reduced their smoking by at least half, one man has cut back less than half, and 10 others dropped out.

When the clinic began, Dr. Charles A. Ross, the director, said that if 50 per cent quit smoking for six months he would consider the clinic a success.

Besides will power, the clinic employs the psychology of group action and two drugs—one to substitute for nicotine, the other to control appetite, which often increases sharply in the absence of smoking.

Drugs were given for the first two weeks to 30 of the men. Other 30 received imitations. Neither the doctors nor the participants know who received the drugs. This information is contained in a code that will not be broken until the six months have passed.

Ross thinks that at least some of the men quit without benefit of the drug—lobeline, which stimulates the nervous system as does nicotine.

Participants in the experiment report varying reactions.

Arnold Winer, a 28-year-old teacher, says, "I haven't had a cigarette since the clinic began and I haven't missed them."

Donald R. Denk, 38, a lawyer who decided to quit smoking after suffering a perforated ulcer, reports "I stayed off about 10 days." Then came a cocktail party, and he flunked.

He is smoking about a pack a day, half of his previous consumption.

I have passed the cocktail test and the other tests — drinking coffee, facing tense situations, arguing politics, all without benefit of cigarettes.

Then the Hiccups Just Went Away

ATLANTA (AP) — Just as mysteriously as it started, a three-month plague of hiccups ended for Mrs. Lucy McDonald.

When the 38-year-old mother of three arrived home over the weekend from a month's stay in a hospital, the spasms stopped without any apparent reason.

She sped back to the hospital, but doctors couldn't tell her what halted the hiccups or what started them.

Mrs. McDonald, a soda fountain waitress, had tried almost everything—surgery, countless home remedies and prayer.

In the News Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

GOING UP: Picking up more steam during the summer, business expansion has apparently reached a record rate of national output exceeding $587 billion a year, government sources report.

The gains in the summer quarter surprised the President's Council of Economic Advisers and were the basis for Chairman Walter W. Heller's prediction last week that national output would top the $600-billion-a-year mark early in 1964.

The third-quarter rise was believed to have been greater than that of the first half of the year which averaged a bit better than $7 billion a quarter and brought the production rate close to $580 billion in the April-June quarter.

The council now is reported to be confident the expansion will continue to the spring of 1964.

WHEAT DEAL: A wheat state senator has suggested that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee take a good look at Soviet purchases of U.S. wheat, and weigh the benefits here against the benefits there.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-SD., asked in a newsletter to his constituents:

"Does the benefit to our country and to the free world pale to insignificance as compared to the benefit realized by the Soviet Union through receipt of a sorely needed commodity to shore up its economy at the weakest point and to allow the Communists to avoid diverting efforts from a variety of tactics, such as subversion, infiltration and guerrilla warfare, aimed at world domination?"

Last week President Kennedy gave the go-ahead for sales of American wheat to the Russians by private U.S. dealers.

ONASSIS: Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio, has questioned whether it is proper for First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy "to accept the lavish hospitality of a foreign individual whose shipping interests... receive favored treatment from the U.S. government."

His statement referred to Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipowner on whose yacht Mrs. Kennedy sailed the Mediterranean.

Bolton said the Onassis interests got a $20-million windfall as a result of special permission from the Maritime Administration to transfer 14 ships from American to foreign registry.

Europeans Vote for Atom Work

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Despite French objections, the European Common Market today approved a $94-million program for nuclear research.

The vote for the 1964 Euratom budget was 5-1.

Euratom is the name for the six nations' joint program for peaceful uses of atomic energy. The participating are France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Would Play Games in Afternoon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Tuesday the University of Arkansas should schedule future Little Rock football games during the daytime so sellouts could be televised.

Bennett's suggestion followed last week's denial by the National Collegiate Athletic Association of a university request for television coverage of this Saturday's game.

The Razorbacks meet Texas, the No. 1 team in the nation, in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium Saturday night.

NCAA rules provide that a game cannot be televised if any sellout college football games are to be played within a 120-mile radius of, and at the same time as, the game to be televised.

Three games are scheduled this Saturday night within 120-mile radius of Little Rock.

The U.S. Arsenal at Little Rock was taken over by state militia in 1961. It is the birthplace of General Douglas MacArthur.
